10-Day Swing of West Europe

President Is Hopeful Tour to Bolster Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is counting on his 10-day swing around Western Europe, beginning next weekend, to shore up the battered Atlantic alliance by strengthening ties between several key allied countries and the United States.

Beyond the nations he actually visits Kennedy hopes his personal presence on the Continent and statements on U.S.-European policy will dramatize the extent of this country's defense commitments to the allies.

To Stress Readiness

Officials said today that the President will put heavy emphasis in one or more of his public statements on U.S. determination to participate in the defense of Western Europe and the beleaguered city of West Berlin.

The point is considered important because of uncertainties created in Western Europe during the past six months by French President Charles de Gaulle's insistence that the continental powers need their own means of nuclear deterrents. He claimed they could not always be sure of U.S. action in a crisis.

Whatever the President says on this point, however, officials declared, will be free of "fist shaking" because he is determined to stick to the spirit of last week's speech at American University here in which he appealed for a lessening of cold war tensions and better understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union.

There have been many suggestions that in view of the political turmoil in Italy, the Profumo scandal in Britain and the prospective change of leadership in West Germany, that the President should cancel or postpone his European trip. But apparently he and his chief advisers have been determined from the first to go through with it.

Officials said that a time of transition in Europe is from the President's point of view a good time to make the trip and talk with men who will have power in the future. They also argued that a cancellation would have meant a blow to U.S. prestige at a critical time.

The President will visit West Germany, Ireland, Britain and Italy. He is scheduled to fly from Andrews Air Force Base Saturday evening direct to West Germany's Bonn-Cologne airport, where he is due Sunday morning.

School Officials Turn to Problems OfRaceImbalance

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — School officials turned their attention today to problems posed by the state education commissioner's directive calling for an end to racial imbalance in public schools.

In Buffalo, the state's second largest city, the superintendent of schools recommended Tuesday a pupil-transfer policy which, he said would allow a more racially balanced enrollment in the city's public schools.

Other local school authorities greeted the historic decision by Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. with an apparent lack of enthusiasm.

Some Not Commenting

However, several officials said they expected to comply with the order and others said they would not comment until they had studied the decision.

Allen directed school boards Tuesday to break up predominantly Negro enrollments in public schools in a ruling on a case concerning the school board of Malverne, on Long Island.

He ordered all school officials to report by Sept. 1 on the status of any racial imbalance in their schools and advise him what they are doing to alleviate it.

Dr. Joseph Manch, Buffalo school superintendent, proposed to the city's Board of Education a system under which parents could have their children transferred to another school outside their home district if space were available.

Some Enrollments Heavy

Fourteen Buffalo schools have enrollment in which Negroes represent between 90 and 100 per cent of the enrollment.

The plan also calls for division of the city into four zones. Students would not be allowed to transfer out of their zone, under the recommendation.

"This will insure that no child will have to travel an unreason-

CHARLES H. SIMS

Succeeds Orozco As New Physical Director at YMCA

The Kingston YMCA announced today the selection of Charles H. Sims of Washington, Pa., as physical director.

Was One of Five

Selection of Sims, listed today by Louis H. Schafer, Y executive secretary, came after five young men had been interviewed by the personnel committee of the Y's board of directors.

The new physical director comes to Kingston well recommended by the New York State YMCA office, the supervising director of teachers in the Pennsylvania school system and the president of Bethany College where Sims received his degree of master of arts. He majored in physical education.

Schafer pointed out today that Sims, who is married and father of a girl, did a remarkable job with grammar school age boys and girls in Washington, Pa., and has had considerable experience in organizing young men's programs.

Faces Busy Schedule

Some Hope For Peace In Jackson

Agree for Present To Cease Marches

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A glimmer of hope for racial peace showed today in Jackson — one week after the slaying of integration leader Medgar W. Evers—after Negroes tentatively agreed to end demonstrations.

The agreement, with minor dissent, came at a Negro mass meeting Tuesday night in answer to further conciliation by city officials to requests of integration leaders.

Reports persisted, however, that the Congress of Racial Equality, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee would carry on demonstrations.

An official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People—which, led by Evers, had spearheaded the drive—said there was no truth in reports of dissension among Negro leaders.

Vote Main Aim

"The main strategy and force will be turned toward registering to vote. That's going to be the main thing," said the Rev. G. R. Haughton, a Negro leader who with four others met Tuesday with Mayor Allen Thompson and two city commissioners.

The Rev. Mr. Haughton said the acceptance of Thompson's pleas to halt demonstrations that resulted in the arrest of 1,048 persons between May 28 and June 15 was "under reservations."

Negotiations with the city council seeking desegregation would continue, he said.

Thompson, spurred by telephone calls from President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, for the first time set specific dates and numbers on already conceded demands for Negro policemen and school-crossing guards.

Fleischmanns Man Serious From Burns

FLEISCHMANNS, N. Y. (AP)—A 63-year-old man was reported in serious condition today from burns suffered in a gasoline explosion Tuesday at a resort hotel near this Catskill Mountain community.

Donald Carlow, of New London, Conn., was taken to Kingston Hospital with burns on his face, hands, and arms.

Comprehensive Development, New Zoning Favored by Board

Planning board adoption of the city's Comprehensive Development Plan, including a revised plan for Neighborhood No. 9, the area including the Broadway East urban renewal project, was announced today by John C. Salapatis, planning board chairman.

The board also recommended approval of proposed new zoning regulations now being studied by the Common Council.

Recent action on the development plan was taken after receipt from Raymond & May Associates, planning consultants, of the revised plan for Neighborhood No. 9.

The revised plan, reviewed by the board, was found to be satisfactory, and will meet, where applicable, recommendations of the Neighborhood No. 9 Committee, as submitted by them at the public hearing May 22. The plan was incorporated as part of the comprehensive plan.

Also adopted were the Preliminary Capital Improvement Project List and Preliminary Capital Improvement Program. They list, by priorities, the various capital improvement projects, and the preliminary capital improvement program for about the next five years, and form part of the comprehensive plan.

The board adopted Proposed Subdivision Regulations for the city. In this document is the following declaration of policy:

"It is declared to be the policy of the Kingston Planning Board to consider land subdivision plots as part of a plan for the orderly, efficient and economical development of the city. This means, among other things, that land to be subdivided shall be of such character that it can be used safely for building purposes without damage to health or peril from fire, flood or other menace; that proper provision shall be made for drainage, water supply, sewage and other needed improvements; that all proposed lots shall be so laid

Equality Strongly Stressed

Desegregation Is Urged by 5 Points

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress a five-point civil rights program today which he said provides "the most responsible, reasonable and urgently needed solutions to this problem."

Kennedy outlined in a 5,500-word special message a legislative package that amounts to one of the broadest civil rights programs proposed in nearly a century.

Accommodations Big Aim

The major aims of the program are to give Negroes equal accommodations in such public facilities as restaurants, hotels, theaters and recreational areas; to speed school desegregation; to provide "fair and full employment"; to set up on the federal level through executive action a community relations service to work with local biracial groups, and to bar federal assistance to "any program or activity in which racial discrimination occurs."

The program is certain to set off long weeks of heated debate in Congress, particularly about the sections on discrimination by privately owned public accommodations and a bar against federal aid for activities in which such discrimination occurs.

Presses for Action

In obvious anticipation of that battle, Kennedy asked Congress to "stay in session this year until it has enacted—preferably as a single omnibus bill—the most responsible, reasonable and urgently needed solutions" to race relations difficulties.

He asked every member of Congress to "set aside sectional and political ties, and to look at this issue from the viewpoint of the nation."

On the point of privately owned facilities serving the public, Kennedy said simply that he was proposing "a provision to guarantee all citizens equal access to the services and facilities of hotels and restaurants, places of amusement and retail establishments."

Employment Stressed

While the message did not go into detail, a draft bill also sent to Congress by Kennedy said that all persons should be entitled "to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages and accommodations" of a number of what were termed "public establishments."

The proposed measure specifically listed hotels and motels furnishing lodging to transient guests including travelers from other states; motion pictures, sports arenas, exhibition halls and other public places of amusement and entertainment which move in interstate commerce, and certain markets, drugstores, gasoline stations, restaurants, lunch counters and soda fountains.

In that area of private enterprise Kennedy already had lost the backing of the Republican congressional leadership.

The proposed ban on discrimi-

Boycotts Are Hitting Some Cities Hard

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Winds of racial strife, sweeping the United States with social revolution, have battered or badly damaged the economy of some cities.

Boycotts by Negroes, aimed at racial barriers, have forced white businessmen into biracial talks for desegregation when nothing else had an effect on social patterns and customs.

Unrest, tension and violence which usually accompany racial conflict within a community slow down the economic pace even in the absence of direct boycott campaigns.

Booming Now

For four years, Little Rock, Ark., suffered industrial stagnation in the wake of violence and unrest over school desegregation —enforced by federal troops for the first time in the United States.

No new plants moved to Little Rock from the onset of the 1957 racial crisis until 1961, said Everett Tucker, president of the school board and also head of the local industrial district.

Little Rock now is booming industrially, Tucker said. He attributed the city's economic plunge to the racial troubles and particularly the closing of high schools for a time in 1958.

Spells Difference

"The Negro, because of his low economic status, has only marginal power but it can be effective," said a Southern Negro leader, the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta.

What he calls marginal power

82 Orbits and All Is Well

Muscovites Jump With Joy as Space Duo Land

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's man-woman space duet returned safely to earth today—he with a record 82 orbits and she with 49, landing in virgin lands area the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky and his blonde, dimple-chinned partner, Valentina Tereshkova, ended flights in their separate space vehicles, Tass said.

Was in Fifth Day

Bykovsky was in his fifth day in space, Miss Tereshkova in her third.

Tass said Valentina landed about 380 miles northeast of Karaganda, a coal mining center in the central Asian republic of Kazakhstan; and Bykovsky about 330 miles northwest.

"The cosmonauts are feeling well," Tass reported. "The flight has ended successfully."

Loudspeakers carried the news to joyous Moscovites. Television and radio stations also flashed the word.

Bykovsky landed at 2:06 p.m. and Valentina came down about three hours earlier at 11:22 a.m., Moscow time, Tass said.

Bykovsky went into space at 3 p.m. last Friday, while Valentina was launched at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Even Friends There

"At the landing points the cosmonauts were met by landing crews, friends, doctors, journalists and sports commissars," Tass said.

"Cosmonauts Valentina Tereshkova and Valery Bykovsky are feeling well," it said.

Bykovsky's 82-orbit flight exceeded the 64 orbits made by Soviet cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev last August.

Valentina's 49 orbits was way ahead of the 22 orbits made by Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., the U.S. record holder.

'No Comment' Is Reply on Tongue Leaving UR Post

Both Mayor John J. Schwenk and Ward B. Tongue today had no comment on Tongue's reported intention of resigning the post of urban renewal director.

Mayor Schwenk, before leaving this morning for the annual New York Conference of Mayors at Lake Placid, said he had nothing to say at this time in verification or denial of the report, and Tongue said he would hold to "no comment."

In Public Service Since 1942

The mayor announced appointment of Tongue on Jan. 20, 1962. The salary is $9,000 a year.

Tongue, at the time of the appointment had been deputy county clerk and commissioner of jurors. As deputy county clerk he served as clerk in Supreme and County courts. A Kingston native, he had been in governmental service since March of 1942, with time out for Army service during World War II.

Spectulation, if a change in the post is made, points to the possible naming of Alexander Yosman, director of the State Housing Authority Colonial Gardens apartments.

Corporation Counsel Harry Gold, unable to leave with Mayor Schwenk for Lake Placid today, is expected to join the mayor at the conference later.

Conclave Will Open After Vatican Mass

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Eighty cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church prayed for divine guidance today before assembling in conclave to elect a successor to Pope John XXIII.

The cardinals attended a solemn Mass to the Holy Spirit offered in St. Peter's Basilica by their French dean, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant. Late in the afternoon they were to enter a sealed-off area of the apostolic palaces around the Sistine Chapel, not to emerge until they have chosen the 262nd pontiff of the Church.

Voting will begin Thursday. Four ballots will be held daily in the Sistine Chapel—two in the morning and two in the afternoon—until one man gets 54 votes, a two-thirds majority. Although church law does not bar a lesser prelate or even a layman, the new Pope is certain to be a cardinal and probably will be an Italian.

The election is expected to be a lengthy process because of the division in the college between conservatives and progressives, a division brought to world attention during the first session of Pope John's Ecumenical Council last fall.

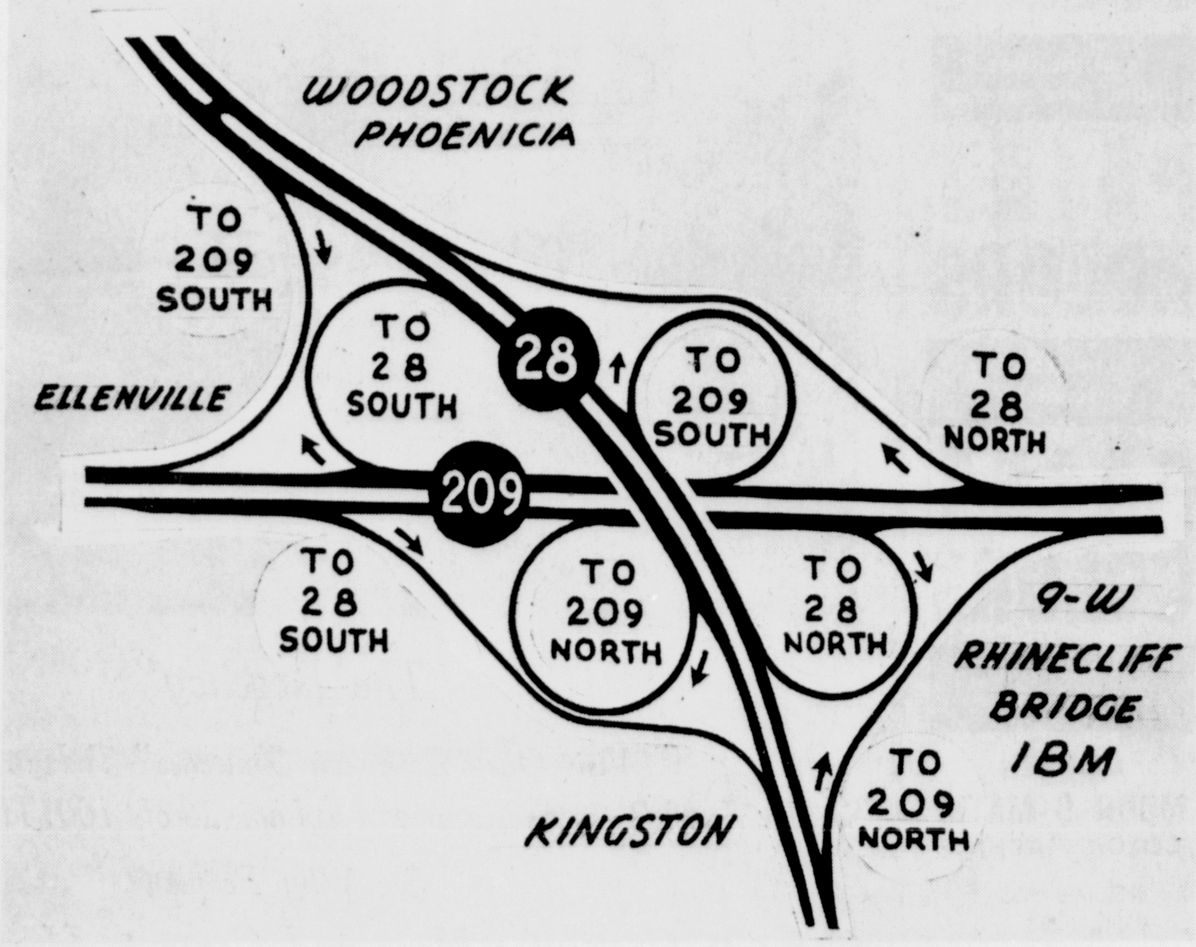

Neither the conservative nor the progressive bloc is large enough to elect a Pope without support from cardinals regarded as middle-of-the-road moderates. The conservatives, who long have dominated the Church through their control of the Vatican Curia, are numerous enough to block a candidate.

This has led observers to believe a moderate eventually will be chosen as a compromise pontiff who will institute a period of appraisal after Pope John's constant efforts to modernize the Church and find a way to get along with communism while not jeopardizing Catholic philosophy.

The first vote is expected to put many cardinals in the running. Subsequent ballots are sure to narrow the field to such cardinals as Giovanni Battista Montini of Milan; Carlo Confalonieri of the Curia, the Church's administrative headquarters; Giovanni Urbani of Venice; Paolo Marella of the Curia and Giacomo Lercaro of Bologna.

Cardinals Montini, Urbani and Lercaro are considered progressives. Cardinals Confalonieri and Marella are looked upon as moderates. Conservatives most prominently mentioned include Alfonso Cardinal Castaldo of Naples and Francesco Cardinal Roberti of the Curia.

Four ballots will be held daily in the Sistine Chapel—two in the morning and two in the afternoon

TRAFFIC PATTERN AT THE ROUTE 28-209 BYPASS INTERCHANGE—Due for completion in late July or early August, the Route 209, or Kingston Bypass, west of the city, will connect major area routes. About 10 miles long, it extends between Route 9W, just north of the city and Route 209 near the Hurley Marbletown line. It will connect on the north with the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge road, and indirectly with Route 32. Through another interchange pattern just a few hundred feet east, it also connects with the Thruway. John Arborio Inc., of Poughkeepsie, is the contractor. (Map by Milton Wagenfohr)

50 Vol Units Sign For July 27 March

Thirty-three fire companies and 17 musical units have signified their intention to participate in the annual Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's parade at Saugerties Saturday, July 27. The convention will open Thursday evening, July 25, with the annual banquet and entertainment program.

George Gardiner, Saugerties chairman of the convention committee, reported Tuesday night at the June meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association meeting in New Paltz, that delegates would report to the central fire station for their dinner tickets and would then be assigned to one of the four churches in Saugerties where the dinner will be served. After the dinner, Thursday night, the firemen will adjourn to the Municipal Building where the entertainment program will be held.

On Friday, July 26, the business session will be held at which time officers will be elected. Herbert Faurote of Bloomington, first vice-president, is expected to be the successor to President George Ohley and Second Vice-President Dominick Costantino of Highland is expected to be elevated to first vice president.

The parade at Saugerties will form at Barclay Heights and parade through the village, disbanding at Cantine Field.

The June meeting of the County Association was held Tuesday night at New Paltz firehouse where Kenneth Abramson, president of the New Paltz Fire Department welcomed the guests.

President Ohley of Saugerties presided.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors held in Saugerties July 17.

Winifred Snyder, Ulster County Fire Coordinator reported a total of 104 fires during May and there were 14 Mutual Aid calls.

Ray Morris, president of the Fire Chiefs Association, reported a Field Day demonstration would be held Sept. 29, the place yet to be determined. The Field Day and fire demonstration will be held at some central point in the county and the time

Glancing Over TV

Young Comedian Hunts for Nice Sign-Off Line

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A young comedian, who for reasons which will soon become apparent wishes to be anonymous, has launched a search "for something nice to say at the end of a program."

"I've got thi television thing pretty well figured out," he explained. "If you want to become rich and famous, all you have to do is let the audience see what an awfully nice guy you are, and then get something warm and sweet to say at the end of a program."

The nameless young man is lost in admiration for Garry Moore's each other," in his judgment, the best signature in the television business.

He likes Dave Garroway's old "Peace," and finds that Bud Collyer's "God bless you" suits the panel-show moderator well, but mostly because Collyer has a reputation as a religious man.

Jimmy Durante's "Good night, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are," while highly distinctive, doesn't really project the nice-guy image he's trying for.

"Gosh," he said. "I've been running over all sorts of lines. Like 'Keep smiling'—but that's no good. Or 'Things will be better,' or 'Chin up.' It's really a very hard thing, to find a short line that gives just the right impression."

He even has thought of a contest, with a prize for the person who comes up with the perfect, identifying phrase.

"But that wouldn't work out," he said. "The important thing is for people to think it comes from inside you. If you have one, people like you, and then you don't even need to have all your jokes funny or even have your show very good. The important thing is for people to know what a nice guy you are."

Recommended tonight: "CBS Reports," 7:30-8:30 (EDT)—"Storm Over the Supreme Court," Part Three, which concentrates on the recent decision banning devotional exercises in public schools; "Mystery Theatre," premiere, NBC, 9-10 — starting a summer season of suspense films with "Shadow of a Man," starring Broderick Crawford, Jack Kelly and Ed Begley.

Three Deputies Chosen From Syracuse Ranks

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) —The Syracuse Police Department's three new deputy chiefs, elevated from the rank of captain, are the first local appointees to top police posts here since the department was reorganized in the aftermath of a scandal.

The three were selected for the vacant deputy-chief posts by Chief Patrick V. Murphy, who took command of the department six months ago.

The new deputy chiefs are Harold Shea, 60, chief administrative officer; Samuel Nappi, 47, head of the criminal investigation division, and John B. Holihan, 46, director of buildings and equipment. They were sworn in Tuesday.

The three posts pay $9,165 a year.

Murphy, a deputy inspector on leave from the New York City police department, was appointed last December in the wake of an investigation of corruption in th department by the State Investigation Commission.

Murphy's first deputy, William H.T. Smith, also is on leave from the New York City force, in which he is a captain.

Murphy and Smith took over following the resignation of former Chief Harold F. Kelly and the first deputy chief, Francis Ryan, during the investigation.

Long, Around-About Way on Religious Ruling

Court Decision Climaxes Pre-Constitution Issue

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's decision this week—forbidding states to require Bible-reading or recital of prayers in public schools—climaxed an issue which had been an issue before there was a Constitution.

The court arrived at its ruling in a long, around-about way over almost 100 years. Putting this week's decision together with previous decisions of the court, this is what it all means:

Started in 1830s

Government can't support religion. Therefore, no state can require religious exercises of any kind in a public school nor can it permit use of school property for such exercises.

A system of public school education did not really begin in this country until about the 1830s. In the colonies education was almost entirely under private control, frequently by the dominant Protestant groups.

In 1786, one year before the Constitutional Convention, James Madison, an architect of the First Amendment a year later, blocked an attempt in Virginia to provide tax funds for the teaching of religion in the schools there.

The First Amendment said "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

But the amendment didn't say states couldn't pass such a law. Then the federal government got the power to tell states they must keep separate from religion with adoption of th 14th Amendment in 1868.

It said: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States." This meant protection for the privileges and immunities guaranteed by the First Amendment.

To Affect Most States

Yet, over the years a number of states required religious exercises in the public schools, or left the question to local communities to settle. This week's decision will probably affect a majority of the states.

The court started in 1827—four years after the adoption of the 14th Amendment—down the road which finally led, after many turns, to what happened this week.

That year it refused to get involved in a dispute over property between two branches of the Presbyterian Church. The court said religious bodies would be subverted if they could get secular courts to settle their differences.

Then there was a question: could Indians use money, their own but held in trust for them by the federal government, to pay their tuition in religious schools? The court said yes because to say no would infringe upon their religious freedom.

In 1897 the court upheld the right of a state to ban plural marriages by Mormons. The decision was historic. It said: While states may not interfere with mere "religious beliefs and opinions, they may with practices."

Over the years there seemed to be no end to the variety of issues.

Students who went to the University of California and, under state law, had to take military training, objected that it was contrary to their religious beliefs. The court overruled them.

It made a point which had great significance later. It said the students had no legitimate objection under the Constitution because they hadn't been compelled to go to that state school and could have gone elsewhere. Since they chose to go to that one, they had to comply with the state law that applied to that one.

Move Toward Climax

Yet the court upheld the right of children of Jehovah's Witnesses to refuse to take part in a public school salute to the flag requirement. The court here upheld the children, saying the requirement infringed up their free exercise of religion. How could this be, in view of the California decision?

In this case, the court said, the children had to go to the public schools and the schools had no right to require a flag-salute contrary to their religious views.

But in several memorable decisions, starting in 1947, the court began moving toward this week's decision.

It said parents living in a town where they sent their children to Roman Catholic schools could be reimbursed by the town for the transportation costs on these grounds:

That the town (state) was not contributing to the support of the schools but was simply helping parents get their children to the schools. If this looked as if the court was breaking down the wall separating church and state, it wasn't.

In 1949 it banned a system in which religious teachers visited a school weekly to give religious instruction to children who wanted it. Those who didn't were released from taking part. This was the so-called "released-time" idea.

Ruled Violation

The court banned it as violation of the First Amendment's prohibition against establishment of religion. The reason: the religious instruction was given in tax-supported schools to aid a religious group spread its faith.

But then the court, in another case, said it was all right for children to be given time off from school to get religious instruction somewhere off the school premises. The court ruled here: "The First Amendment does not say that in every and all respects there shall be a separation of church and state."

Last year the court logically followed the course it had been taking by forbidding New York to require public school children to recite a prayer composed by the school board, even though children who didn't want to take part could leave the room.

Then this week came the biggest ruling of all: the court said states couldn't require Bible-reading or prayer recital in public schools.

INVESTMENT AND CHALLENGE

An investment in the future of our nation is afforded through the establishment of the Boy Scout Trust Fund by Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, which now is serving some 3,200 boys throughout Ulster and Greene Counties.

Study the lives of many of our country's most successful men, such as our famed astronauts, and you will find that they attribute much of their success to their early training as Boy Scouts. Our boys of today will need this training to meet the challenges of the future. This foundation of sound character and courageous citizenship is vital to our sustained efforts to keep America strong physically and morally.

Through the Boy Scout Trust Fund, which is governed in all respects by the laws of the State of New York, tax free gifts and bequests may be designated for this patriotic endeavor. Bequests to this trust fund are deducted before estate taxes are figured and the income tax law permits deductions.

This country needs the Scouting Movement to instill the basic ideals of our American way of life into our Nation's future leaders. From this organization will come the presidents, governors, industrialists, engineers, scientists and professional men who will determine the quality of our civilization and the strength of our nation in their generation.

Through the Boy Scout Movement, these leaders of tomorrow are learning the right kind of habits which constitute the basis for character growth. They are prepared to meet their obligations through work, study, adherence to duty, and by personal responsibility, dependability, loyalty, reverence and respect for authority.

These future leaders do not fritter away their time or engage entirely in recreational pursuits during their Boy Scout training. They live in a world of reality and cultivate a sense of purpose which give solid meaning to their actions.

There are several ways in which one may participate in this Trust Fund. Information may be secured from Rip Van Winkle Council or from the Kingston Trust Company, trustee for the fund.

The Boy Scout Trust Fund will help perpetuate this expanding organization, which we believe is essential to this country.

TROUBLESOME FOAM

No matter how highly housewives rate detergents as dishwashing and laundry aids, those responsible for fighting water pollution have had more than enough of these powders, pellets and liquids. The reason is that most of them contain a chemical compound not easily broken down. Detergents poured down the drain continue to foam up in sewage disposal plants and can put a troublesome "head" on river water. The foam even shows up in tap water in some communities.

Unless something is done, this threat to the water supply will get worse. As the population increases, more and more of our water supply will have to be re-used. Detergents greatly increase the difficulty in purification for multiple use.

Bills have been introduced in both houses of Congress that would bar the use of foaming detergents after June, 1965. The detergent industry says no legislation is needed because the industry hopes to have a safe type of detergent ready by the end of 1965. More than "hope" is required. The time for corrective law is overdue.

WARNING FROM CHIANG'S FRIEND

The Chinese Nationalists on Formosa (Taiwan) are apparently quite serious in their current preparations for staging some kind of invasion of the Communist mainland. But if they do make the effort in the immediate future, it will be against the considered judgement of General Albert Wedemeyer, who was the American commander-in-chief in the China theatre at the end of World War II.

General Wedemeyer's feeling that the time is not yet ripe for the Formosan Chinese to try to topple the Red Regime of Mao Tse-tung is particularly interesting, for the General has always been one of Chiang Kai-shek's most loyal friends. Both as a wartime commander in the Far East and as the head of the later mission that resulted in the suppressed Wedemeyer Report, the General has always been an advocate of U.S. support of any movement designed to rescue the Chinese mainland from the Communists.

Chiang's old friend makes it clear that his objections to an invasion at this moment are purely logistical. For more than three years prior to his assignment to the Far East, Al Wedemeyer was General Marshall's chief planner in Washington. He spent endless hours on the intricacies involved in assembling landing craft, food, gasoline, tanks, guns, men, and appropriate air cover for beachhead operations and for the subsequent "widening out" penetrations that are required to turn an amphibious operation into a successful mainland war. With the memory of such details on his mind, General Wedemeyer doubts that the Formosan Chinese have what it would take to put an effective operation ashore and make it stick.

The General's fears are not those of a timid man. As Marshall's invasion planner, Wedemeyer considered it a quite possible invitation to disaster to put off the Normandy invasion until as late as 1944. He thought it entirely practicable to assemble a D-Day force sufficiently powerful to invade the continent of Europe successfully in 1943. Wehn he kept urging the desirability of defeating the Nazis in the West before Hitler's rocketry was developed to the point of being able to obliterate London from close-up bases in the Low Countries, Wedemeyer was kicked upstairs to his command in China.

As Chiang's friend, Wedemeyer would hate to see the venerable Nationalist leader come a-cropper when Formosa is such a shining example of economic success to other nations. "One more big defeat," says the General, "and Chiang would be through as a figure of influence in the Far East."

The comparison between the Hitler development of long-distance rocketry in 1943-44 and the reported progress of the Red Chinese toward making an A-bomb capable of wiping out Formosa does not impress Wedemeyer as valid. The General does not doubt that the Red Chinese may be able to explode some sort of token bomb in the near future. Peking has atomic physicists who understand the theory of the A-bomb, and, with the help of the Russians, these physicists might achieve a critical explosion that would register on Western seismographs. But the General would be vastly surprised if the Red Chinese have the industrial capability of making an operational bomb.

This, in his opinion, Chiang has time in which to wait without fear that Formosa may wake up one fine morning to find Mao Tse-tung brandishing atomic weapons at the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu just off the China coast. In Wedemeyer's opinion, the Formosan Chinese would need strong backing from the United States to win a war on the Chinese mainland. The Kennedy Administration is not disposed at the moment to provide this backing, which is something that a realistic Chiang must take into consideration.

There is only one thing that might make a Chinese Nationalist invasion of the mainland feasible at this time, and that is a sudden collapse of Mao Tse-tung's ability to keep his population under control. Possibly Chiang has information that such a collapse can be easily provoked. But Wedemeyer's own information is that the mainland Chinese, while they are undoubtedly seething against the Communist's are not yet ready to rally en masse to the banners of a small Chiang invasion force.

Since these views are those of a foremost supporter of the Formosan Chinese, they cannot be taken lightly by Chiang's American friends. The views have double force as coming from a military man who thinks the U.S. should have put Castro's Red Cuban government out of business a long time ago—by water-borne invasion if necessary.

Good Dietary Practices Help Foil Heartburn

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Heartburn means different things to different people, but properly refers to a burning sensation under the breastbone that comes on from a half hour to five hours after eating, and is intermittent in character.

It is an irritation of the esophagus by the regurgitation of acid stomach contents. Why the regurgitation occurs is not well understood. In severe cases, sour or greasy material may come up, not only into the lower end of the esophagus but into the mouth.

Spicy foods are likely to be more irritating to the esophagus and stomach, and are thus more apt to cause heartburn than are bland foods.

Greasy foods slow up the emptying of the stomach. This in itself is not harmful, but associated with the slow emptying there may be an increased tendency to heartburn if you are tense or emotionally upset.

In some persons, heartburn is favored by taking large amounts of citrus fruits. This is another case where a little is better than a lot.

With most persons, eating too fast and not chewing the food thoroughly is a contributory cause. Excessive smoking or drinking will also aggravate heartburn.

It is important for a person with heartburn to rule out gall bladder disease and other diseases of the digestive tract.

If your doctor finds that you do not have these serious diseases, he is safe in assuming that you have simple heartburn. You should be able to get relief with simple measures. A glass of water will dilute the stomach acid and give some relief if nothing else is available, but the water quickly leaves the stomach and the heartburn usually returns.

Baking soda used to be given for this condition. It is no longer recommended because, while neutralizing the acidity, it stimulates acid production.

The best remedy is one of the many aluminum hydroxide preparations. They are harmless and, if one does not give you relief it is safe to take another and even a third; but this is rarely necessary.

Finally, remember that simple heartburn can be prevented by obeying the rules of good hygiene.

Q—For the past four months I have had a bad case of hiccups. I have them day and night. What could cause this? What can I do?

A—Hiccups are usually caused by a reflex irritaton of the diaphragm or the nerve that controls it. The commonest cause of such an irritation is overdistention of the stomach, but attacks due to this cause would not be as persistent as your hiccups.

Many remedies have been suggested. Sometimes the hiccups stop as suddenly as they start, and for no apparent reason. When this happens, the last remedy tried may erroneously be given the credit. A simple treatment that is often successful is to hold a paper bag tightly over your nose and mouth and rebreathe the air in the bag for a little while. Another home treatment which has worked is to hold nostrils and ears tightly shut and, with the aid of another person, drink a full tumbler of water without stopping to breathe.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — With May unemployment 5.9 per cent of the working force and likely to go higher for June as the high schools and colleges pour out millions of new job seekers, the No. 1 economic problem is to use every facility available for cutting down relief rolls and finding work for more people.

While this is going on, private unemployment agencies that charge a fee for placing people in new jobs are carrying on a campaign to restrict the free services of federal and state employment offices to finding jobs for only those who are unemployed. Anyone wanting to change his job would then be forced to go to fee-charging agencies.

THERE ARE OVER 2,000 of these private employment agencies. Most of the big ones and better ones are members of the National Employers Assn. It operates under a code of ethics which seeks to cut out the racketeers and to give job hunters responsible service.

At the Employers Assn. convention in Cleveland last October, however, a $1,000-per-member club was formed and $163,000 raised to launch a campaign against government free employment services.

A public relations firm was hired and a drive began for a congressional hearing, which has just been held without very concrete results.

The pitch of the fee-charging agencies is that the 2,000 state employment offices and the 1,900 part-time U.S. employment offices in the smaller communities and rural areas—where private agencies don't operate—are trying to destroy free enterprise and control the American labor market.

BEHIND THE CHARGE is a lurking fear that there will be a repetition of government manpower controls which were in effect through World War II and the Korean War. In these periods, when jobs were plentiful and unemployment was low, about 2,000 of the private agencies went out of business. Since then, they have increased from 800 to over 2,000.

When the Kennedy administration came to town and made reduction of unemployment a principal goal, a task force was set up which launched the depressed area development and manpower training programs.

A build-up of the U. S. Employment Service was approved by Congress and its budget raised by $29 million, to $169 million for the year.

That scared the fee-charging agencies. They made demands that federal and state employment offices refuse service to employed workers, professional workers, college graduates and government workers. The private agencies charged that "60 per cent of the job placements made by public employment offices in 1962 were people who were already employed."

This charge was finally tracked down to a 1959 Census Bureau household spot and sample survey. It showed that out of every five newly hired workers all over the country, three were employed workers changing jobs, one was unemployed and one was a new entrant in the labor force. But this was for all workers—not just those placed by government.

U. S. EMPLOYMENT Service figures show that in 1962, 70 to 80 per cent of all workers taking new jobs found these openings themselves, through friends or by answering newspaper ads.

Only 5 to 6 per cent found their jobs through fee-charging, private employment services. Fifteen to 16 per cent got their jobs through free federal or state offices.

These public employment offices are now required by law to help anyone who applies. In 1962 they placed 6.7 million workers in nonagricultural jobs and 8.5 million rural and agricultural jobs for a 15.2-million placement total.

Actually, from 85 to 95 per cent of the job seekers registered with U. S. and state unemployment offices are unemployed, and 97 per cent of the workers they placed in 1962 were unemployed.

Supreme Court on Norfolk Case—A Different View?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy is planning to ask Congress to enact a law barring segregation in "public accommodations." But one cannot be sure just what is constitutional with regard to racial discrimination, for instance, in the use of public restrooms and toilets. The Supreme Court of the United States has exhibited a curious inconsistency in dealing with such facilities in the state courthouse in Norfolk, Va.

Apparently no legal barrier is recognized today by the Supreme Court when brushing aside state ordinances, customs, or even statements of an advisory nature favoring practices of racial segregation in public buildings or facilities. The utmost flexibility prevails, and the highest court has taken it upon itself again and again to tell local authorities they must give due regard to the "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment. A decision rendered on March 9, 1959, by the Supreme Court, however, remain a conspicuous exception and is still in effect.

The case arose when a Negro attorney sought from the U. S. District Court a permanent injunction to restrain the City of Norfolk and certain of its administrative officers "from maintaining certain signs in state courthouse in city indicating segregation of races in public restrooms maintained in building for men and women."

Case Dismissed

The U. S. District Judge, after the hearing, dismissed the complaint on Feb. 26, 1958. The case was taken to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which confirmed the decision on Oct. 15, 1958. In 1959, by refusing to hear the case, the Supreme Court of the United States upheld the appeal court ruling, which said:

"We think this action was properly taken. Whether or not the Federal court should take cognizance of the case and grant the relief prayed was within the sound discretion of the District Judge sitting in a court of equity.

"The matter was one which affected the internal operations of the court of the state and within its power to regulate. Under these circumstances, interference on the part of the Federal court was not required and the action of the District Judge in dismissing the case was in accord with the principles laid down in Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Vs. Williams."

The Supreme Court opinion in the Pennsylvania case of 1935 makes strange reading today, it said:

"It is in the public interest that Federal courts of equity should exercise their discretionary power with proper regard for the rightful independence of state governments in carrying out their domestic policy."

"It has long been accepted practice for the Federal courts to relinquish their jurisdiction in favor of the state courts, where its exercise would involve control of or interference with the internal affairs of a domestic corporation of the state.

"There are stronger reasons for adopting a like practice where the exercise of jurisdiction involves an unnecessary interference by injunction with the lawful action of state officers."

Again and again state officers have sought to maintain segregation in public parks or in schools or in public buildings, but the Supreme Court of the United States has rebuffed every such effort and has ignored the opinions of the state courts.

So it is puzzling just why the Supreme Court exercised a kind of favoritism for its brother judges in the courthouse in Norfolk and why it apparently didn't feel that integration should be ordered for the restrooms there.

Again and again the Supreme Court has sustained the action of lower courts in insisting that restrooms or waiting rooms in railroad stations cannot be marked for whites and Negroes, respectively.

The recent disputes in Alabama have involved a conflict between state officers and the Federal government, and there has been no hesitancy on the part of the Department of Justice to intervene "in the internal operations" of the state itself on the assumption that the Supreme Court of the United States would sweep away any state ruling to the contrary.

Just why was the courthouse in the City of Norfolk permitted to exercise a privilege of racial segregation which has been forbidden in other public institutions in the state?

This question remains unanswered today, and the judges in the Norfolk courthouse are authorized to continue or discontinue as they like their traditional ways in the matter of restroom facilities. This is a species of voluntarism denied to other agencies in the State of Virginia or in the Federal government.

The Election of a Pope—Part One

For a moment in time, Rome is silent. The city's breathing can be heard. The College of Cardinals has convened to elect a new pope. The election is solemn and secret. More than three score of old men—rich in the honors of the Roman Catholic Church—are sealed off in a wing of the Papal Palace in Vatican City, and they will not be permitted to communicate with anyone in the world until the new Vicar of Christ has been chosen.

The Palace has 1,100 rooms. The wing nearest to the dark and dismal Sistine Chapel has been sealed off with brick. The windows have been painted black, so that no Prince of the Church can pass a signal to someone below. The suites are temporarily partitioned ito 200 small rooms, more than enough for each cardinal and one assistant.

The extra rooms are occupied by two doctors, one surgeon, two pharmacists, six carpenters, six bricklayers several tailors, some clerks and a few archivists. When the company inside the wing is complete, the doorways are sealed by brick and no one will be allowed in or out, no newspapers or periodicals are permitted, no phone calls, no telegrams either way, no radios, no television, and food will be delivered on a turntable under a door.

The Marshal of the Conclave, elected by the others, will first conduct a search of the premises with an assistant. His duty is to examine every room, every closet and piece of furniture. At ten minute intervals, the assistant cries in Latin: "Everybody out!" Each of the seventy-odd cardinals must be properly identified by another cardinal.

The Princes put away their purple robes of mourning and don crimson. Each goes to confession. When absolution is given, they walk, in slow procession, to the Sistine Chapel and receive the Holy Eucharist at Mass. The purpose of the Mass is to ask the Holy Spirit to guide their voting. The room is big, oblong and dank. Small windows high in the chapel light the dust of centuries in slanting beams. On the ceiling are the mangnificent frescoes of Michelangelo. Behind the altar is his heroic painting of the Last Judgment, depicting the souls summoned to heaven, and those condemned to everlasting brimstone.

Among those condemned is the figure of a cardinal. To Michelangelo, it was a humbling joke. To the cardinals, it is a shadowy warning. One of them stands to read the Apostolic Constitution, the rules under which a new pope will be elected. The entire body swears to uphold its articles.

Along the left and right walls of the chapel are the thrones, under dark red canopies, where the College sits. This conclave is the largest in history. The total membership is 82. Of these, only a few are not present. Before each cardinal is a desk with a pad, pencils, a pen, and a ballot.

The Marshal declares the premises clean of intruders. Six white candles are lighted before the altar. He and the Conclave secretary nominate nine cardinals to tally votes. The first three stand behind a white-clothed table and take ballots as the cardinals leave their thrones and bring their votes to the altar. The three read aloud the name of the person voted. The second three take the ballots and recheck the utterances of the first three. The third three have no duties unless one or more cardinals is ill. In that case, they go to the rooms and pick up the votes.

As each cardinal votes, he holds his ballot between thumb and forefinger of the right hand, genuflects before the altar and swears aloud to Jesus Christ that he has voted for the man he thinks best suited for the papacy. He drops the three-inch ballot onto a silver plate. The voter holds the plate and tilts it so that the ballot slides into a large communion chalice.

As the totals are announced, each cardinal listens, and keeps a tally on the desk before him. Any Roman Catholic, even a male layman, is eligible to be elected. The cardinals elect one of their own only by custom, not by law. Also, by custom, they tend, on succeeding ballots, to change their votes to conform to the one whose star is in the ascendency.

Until October of 1958, the Catholic Church was content to walk slowly, a few hundred years behind history. It was in no hurry because it deals in eternity. It could afford to accept persecution, or adulation, in silence because it understands that the church will always be in disfavor, or in especially high favor, in many parts of the world at any one time.

Then it chose the aging Patriarch of Venice, Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli as the 261st pontiff maximus. Popes average 7½ years in office. This one had a little more than four years. In that time, the Peasant Pastor accomplished more toward a goal of true universal brotherhood of man than most of his predecessors.

Almost overnight, the Roman Catholic Church moved up abreast of history, and began to walk a little ahead of it. An Ecumenical Council was ordered and convened. The bishops of the world were admonished to re-examine church law, with special attention toward the bring of "stray sheep" back into the fold.

The cardinals in solemn session must ask themselves whether they want to continue the radical doctrine of John XXIII. If they do, they will elect a cardinal in sympathy with the Ecumenical Council. If not, they will elect a conservative, who will revert to the stance of staring at the back of history as it moves ahead.

Who? This is worth the serious thought of non-Catholics as well as Catholics because, in this century, the moral power of the pontiff has increased to the point where his pronunciamentos on world affairs have an effect on everyone. . .

Have Wealth of Data From Mercury Project

Gemini Officials Confident About Lunar Landing Effort

EDITOR'S NOTE—With Project Mercury ended, Howard Benedict, AP correspondent at Cape Canaveral, looks to the future of manned space flights in the last of three articles.

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —With Project Mercury officially concluded, the United States now shifts full attention to Project Gemini, the second phase of a plan to land astronauts on the moon before 1970.

Fortified with a mountain of data collected from six Mercury manned space flights—climaxed by Air Force Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr.'s 22-orbit mission in May—Gemini officials are moving confidently ahead.

Two-man Gemini teams will test many techniques essential for the Apollo lunar landing program. The astronauts will remain in orbit for periods up to two weeks; they will join their spacecraft with another orbiting satellite, and eventually one of the crew is to open the capsule hatch and step outside to see what it's like more than 100 miles above the earth.

Year Behind Schedule

Gemini presently is nearly a year behind schedule. This was a major reason space officials declared an end to Project Mercury.

Main reasons for the lag involve technical problems associated with developing a highly sophisticated spacecraft and man-rating the powerful Titan 2 booster rocket. Shortage of funds, which resulted in elimination of all but essential overtime work several months ago, also has contributed to the delay.

The Gemini spacecraft retains the bell shape of the Mercury capsule but it will be larger and weigh about 6,000 pounds, twice as much as the earlier vehicle. It will have 50 per cent greater cabin area to accommodate two pilots.

New Systems Devised

As a result of Mercury experiences, new fuel and power systems have been devised for Gemini and the emphasis will be on pilot control rather than on automatic as in Mercury.

The need for a two-man crew was explained by Gemini official Andre J. Meyer Jr.:

"For really extended flight periods, it was considered most desirable to be able to alternate rest periods and generally to lighten the load on one man."

He said two men would simplify rendezvous maneuvers and the exit of one of the pilots into space.

Dr. Stanley White of the Manned Spacecraft Center said the dual pilot arrangement will permit simultaneous medical monitoring of two men and enable the astronauts to use instruments to check one another's condition.

Present schedule calls for an unmanned mockup Gemini capsule to be launched on a brief suborbital flight from Cape Canaveral next December. An unmanned orbital flight of a complete capsule is scheduled for June 1964.

Aim at 1964

If all goes well, two astronauts —selected from the original seven Mercury pilots and the nine pilots named last fall—will make the first manned Gemini trip in October 1964. The flight presently is programmed for three days to provide basic data for long duration flights, but it could be extended.

During 1964, the length of the flights will be increased to a week and then two weeks to gather extensive medical data on the pilots' reaction to prolonged exposure to space weightlessness. The information is needed before man ventures forth to the moon and planets.

During the long duration trips, Gemini teams will conduct early space rendezvous experiments with a small target satellite. The two objects will not be joined in space.

Hookup Set for 1965

When confidence is gained in this maneuver, an Agena satellite will be shot into orbit from Cape Canaveral by an Atlas rocket and the two-man craft will be launched a day or two later to attempt a hookup, probably in late 1965.

Once the two vehicles have docked, the Gemini astronauts will use the Agena fuel supply and engine to alter course, possibly scooting from their normal 180-mile-high altitude to more than 600 miles into space.

Then the Agena will be jettisoned and Gemini will return to earth. Initial flights will use a Mercury-type parachute system for a water landing. But a wing-like paraglider device is being developed to enable later Gemini craft to maneuver near earth and land like a glider on solid ground.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has placed a $456.6-million order with the McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis, for 13 Gemini capsules. Under an agreement reached with NASA earlier this year, the Air Force will use some of the capsules to test military applications of man-in-space — including rendezvous with and inspection of suspected hostile satellites, reconnoissance and observation of enemy missile launchings.

By 1965, initial earth orbit flights of the Apollo spaceship will begin to overlap Gemini and by 1967 NASA's participation in Gemini is expected to end.

Then on to the moon, perhaps to a manned landing by 1968.

'Hazel Flagg' Revives

NEW YORK (AP) — An off-Broadway revival is planned for the musical "Hazel Flagg" this season, just 10 years after its brief run on the Great White Way.

The show, written by Ben Hecht and with music by Jule Styne, was based on the film "Nothing Sacred." The original company included Helen Gallagher, Benay Venuta and Thomas Mitchell. Casting for the new version has not yet been disclosed.

Watch for really young snap beans when you are food-marketing. Their flavor, texture and color are worthwhile.

According to ancient Greeks, those valiant female warriors, the Amazons, were inhabitants of the Ionian city of Ephesus on Africa's west coast. The Amazon River of South America got its name, according to one version, after a 16th Century Spanish explorer returned from there with tales of conflict with female warriors. Another explanation of the naming of the river is the Indian word amassona which means boat destroyer.

Columbia Tourney Shows Good Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Just last month I played in Columbia at my first South Carolina tournament. I have never played in a nicer one anywhere and I certainly hope to be back again.

What I believe to be the best hand of the tournament was a four-club contract made by John Myers of Columbia.

West opened the deuce of spades. East won with the ace and continued with the queen in order to force dummy to ruff, but John was not going to fall into that trap. He discarded the deuce of diamonds from dummy.

Then East shifted to the three of diamonds, but John was ready. He rose with the ace just as if he were looking right at East's singleton.

John led the nine of hearts and let it ride to East's queen. Now it did not matter now what East did, but actually he led a trump. John won with dummy's king, led the three of trumps to his ace, led a heart to dummy's ace, ruffed out East's king of hearts, returned to dummy with the ten of trumps, discarded his three diamonds on the last three hearts and made the last trick with his last trump.

Incidentally, a diamond shift at trick two instead of the spade continuation would have beaten the contract, but that does not detract one iota from John's play.

To Follow Route of 1943 Riot

'Walk to Freedom' Slated In Detroit, Peace Is Aim

DETROIT (AP) — A massive "Walk to Freedom" demonstration is scheduled in Detroit Sunday—the 20th anniversary of the ending of one of this century's bloodiest race riots.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Southern integrationist leader, is to head a 3 p.m. march in which sponsors are striving to enlist 100,000.

Along the scheduled downtown route of the march fell some of the 34 killed and 700 injured in Detroit's 1943 rioting. Woodward Avenue will take the marchers directly through the spot where a race riot erupted 80 years before that—in 1863.

Discrimination Exists

Richard V. Marks, secretary-director of Detroit's Commission on Community Relations, says there still is "plenty of the racial discrimination and racial prejudice" which contributed to the four-day outbreak of violence 20 years ago.

Marks adds, however, he is "not the least bit concerned about the march producing violence," and James Del Rio, planning chairman for the demonstration, says "peace and order are our aim."

Purpose of March

Del Rio, a director of the newly organized Detroit Council for Human Rights which is sponsoring the walk, says the demonstration has a two-fold purpose:

To raise $100,000 for Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership Council, and to protest "against indignities Negroes have suffered in Birmingham and against many things going on in Detroit, particularly in jobs and housing."

The bloodshed of 20 years ago sprang from a fist fight between a Negro and a white man on a bridge to Belle Isle. Other Negroes and whites got involved in the fracas.

Federal Troops Called

Fighting spread as rumors, mostly false, fed flames of hatred. It finally took federal troops, as in 1863, to put down the riot.

At the time, Negroes were flocking from poorly paid jobs in the South to Detroit's high-wage defense industries and were spilling over from mid-city slums into what had been all-white neighborhoods. Detroit's schools long had been integrated, but Negroes predominated in some and were virtually non-existent in others.

Along with the Southern Negroes, many whites from the mountains and deltas of the South also came to Detroit, bringing with them their custo - and their beliefs in race separation.

Chevy II Nova 400 6-Passenger Station Wagon Load up,

light out

Chevy II Wagons— The heft of a suitcase. The rustle of a road map. There's something about one of these spruce, surprisingly spacious wagons that can turn even the routine preparations into a happy part of your trip.

Take that old bugaboo of packing, for instance. No bother. With the kind of room you get in that easy-loading cargo compartment, you can just about toss things in any old whichway and come out with space to spare. The load won't dampen the spirits of the spunky 6-cylinder engine either. It just hums along passing up gas pumps (there's also a choice of an even thriftier 4 in most models) like it didn't have a care in the world. Fact is, it has far fewer cares than most engines—being built with the special knack Chevrolet engineers have for dependability and ease of maintenance.

Like a car with ginger—without a lot of needless gingerbread? Your dealer's got a full line of Chevy II's to pick from. Why not drop down and check now while both the trading and the traveling are especially good? And maybe it'd be a good idea to leave a note for the milkman on the way out, just in case you happen to get lost some place before you get back.

Negroes' Vigil Broken Up

Troopers Ease Threat Of Full-Scale Trouble

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — Some 300 to 350 Negroes maintaining a protest vigil on the courthouse lawn were dispersed early today when a force of about 100 state troopers moved in to clamp a tight security lid on this racially troubled city.

The riot-trained trooopers, under the command of Col. Albert Lingo, state public safety director, quickly brought an end to the vigil started after the arrest of 396 demonstrators Tuesday. The Negroes had said they would continue until those arrested were released.

Sets Up Tight Patrol

The arrival of the state troopers, who used night sticks and electric prods to run off the Negroes—and the crowd of about 200 white spectators, ended for the time being the threat of a full-scale conflict. Lingo set up a tight patrol of the city, Alabama's fourth largest, with his helmeted troopers.

Etowah County Sheriff Dewey Colvard estimated there were about 200 peace officers in Gadsden, including sheriff's deputies and policemen from surrounding counties.

Of the Negroes being held, Colvard said, "They'll stay in jail until the judge decides what to do with them."

The Negroes will go before Circuit Judge A.B. Cunningham who issued the anti-demonstration injunction which they are charged with violating.

The familiar pattern of racial disputes was emerging despite efforts by police to avoid arrests.

For eight days, there had been few arrests although hundreds of Negroes marched through town repeatedly, even extending their efforts to a suburban shopping center.

Their demands were similar to those elsewhere in the South—better job opportunities, desegregation of public facilities such as lunch counters and rest rooms, and formation of a biracial study committee to seek answers to racial problems.

Headed for Showdown

The situation appeared headed for a showdown with both sides declaring a no-budge position.

Mayor Lesley Gilliland said that the place to settle the issues was in the courts and Congress—not the stores and streets. He was backed up by two state court injunctions forbidding the Negroes from extraordinary demonstrations such as lying in front of doorways and on sidewalks.

Negro leaders said nothing would stop the campaign. Marvin Robinson, a leader of the Congress of Racial Equality, said the injunction would be deliberately violated. He was one of those arrested Tuesday.

Gilliland and Sheriff Dewey Colvard called for help Tuesday night and the Alabama Highway Patrol responded by ordering approximately 50 troopers into the city.

Racial News In Brief Form

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy asks Congress for weapons to combat racial discrimination despite sure opposition from segregationists and conservatives; Mississippi integration leader Medgar W. Evers, shot from ambush at his home in Jackson, buried at Arlington National Cemetery.

NEW YORK—The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. says attempt by Southerners to filibuster against civil rights legislation will be signal for a nationwide protest march on nation's capital.

RALEIGH, N.C.—Gov. Terry Sanford tells statewide television audience demonstrations must stop and grievances by Negroes aired at negotiation table.

GADSDEN, Ala.—Arrest of 400 Negro demonstrators brings courthouse lawn vigil by approximately 300 others, but state troopers then disperse demonstrators and clamp tight lid on city.

JACKSON, Miss.—Negroes tentatively agree to end demonstrations after mayor and City Council make conciliatory moves to meet their requests.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—Negro members plan demonstrations to back demands for more job opportunities and other rights.

CAMBRIDGE, Md.— Meeting with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy leads Negroes to call off mass demonstration, brings guarded optimism that racial problems may be settled.

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Police and state trooopers brace for more demonstrations following arrests of 48 Tuesday, two downtown parks closed to public meetings.

2 Human Rights Speakers Address Valley Builders

Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley members Tuesday night honored two officials of the State Commission for Human Rights at a dinner meeting held at the Ship Lantern Inn, Milton.

Honored were Commissioner J. Edward Conway, of Glenerie Lake Park and Edward Rutledge, housing director for the commission.

Also attending last night's dinner meeting as guests of the association were John Jennings, commission attorney, and Investigator Neal Hoffman.

The two guests discussed with association members the various statutes pertaining to human rights that would be of interest to the builders of homes. The meeting was considered timely by Sam Hankin, association president, because of the recently enacted legislation and prospective future legislation relating to civil rights and non-discrimination in housing.

Commissioner Conway is one of seven commissioners who comprise the State Commission for Human Rights. He is a Kingston native and a former Ulster County judge, assistant district attorney and former member of the Assembly.

Rutledge has served as housing director for the commission since 1955, when the commission was given jurisdiction over discrimination in public housing.

Boycotts Are . . .

often spells the difference between profit and loss for some businessmen. This factor figured prominently in a desegregation agreement in Birmingham, Ala.

Caught in a racial struggle that erupted into the streets in early April, Birmingham's economy was chopped by a two-edged sword—an effective boycott by Negroes and marching, picketing and other demonstrations which helped keep other shoppers from downtown stores.

Economy Main Concern

Alabama's top businessmen permitted their names to be linked with a biracial pact that ended the demonstrations. White spokesmen readily admitted they went to the conference table to try to save the city's economy.

Department store sales in Birmingham fell from plus 15 per cent in March to minus 19 per cent in May—the peak of Negro demonstrations—in comparison to 1962 figures.

Since the biracial agreement of May 10, the store sales have moved up to six points—to minus 13. The agreement, not yet put into effect, calls for desegregation of store facilities and upgrading of Negro workers.

Palenville Man's Case Adjourned

The case of Ernest Gill, 68 of Palenville, who was indicted by a Greene County grand jury early in June on 25 counts, was adjourned to Monday, June 24, when he appeared in Greene County Court early this week.

The charges include impairing the morals of a minor, permitting children to attend and serving alcoholic beverages to minors.

Gill is the owner of a house on Pennsylvania Avenue, Palenville, which was raided by Leeds state police on complaints of residents as being "disorderly."

Socialistic Civil Rights

Editor, The Freeman

The Kennedy boys now say they will use Federal power to force race mixing. Equality for every American is fine, but to use force to compel the mingling of the races in social activities is against the Constitution of our United States. Such compulsion would amount to a complete denial of the inalienable rights of the individual to choose or select his associates.

The Kennedy boys are using threats of riots, violence, etc. to force Congress into passing their socialistic civil rights bills. These bills would take away all rights of private property owners, businesses and homes.

Our American system has always rejected the idea that one group of citizens may deprive another of legal rights in property by process of agitation, demonstration, intimidation, law defiance and civil disobedience.

The outstanding distinction between a government of free men and a socialistic or communistic state is the fact that free men can own and control property, whereas statism denies property rights.

Woman Purchases Ex-Diehl Store

A contract to purchase the two-story brick business property at the corner of Elmendorf Street and Broadway has been entered into between Jacob A. Hummel, owner, and Mrs. Rose Deegan. Also included in the transaction is the two-story, three apartment, brick residence property adjoining on Elmendorf Street.

Mrs. Deegan, who conducts a liquor store at 688 Broadway, said the property had been acquired as an investment and the store will not be moved from its present location.

For many years the store was occupied by the Diehl Sporting Goods store and later by the Sav-On discount store. Fire recently damaged the building and since that time the store had been unoccupied.

Mrs. Deegan expressed confidence in the Central Broadway area of town as a coming business center and said the premises had been acquired as an investment.

Norman Kellar represented the seller and Robert Ortale, the purchaser in the transaction.

DEAD COPPERHEADS—Two copperhead snakes were killed Monday night by Walter Trowbridge on his property at West Shokan off Route 28A. One was 42 inches long and the other 39 inches. The copperhead is a venomous reptile with copper brown coloring and traverse blotches. Copperheads usually run about three feet long.

Book East Strand Man for Burglary At Scrap Building

Troy J. Porter, 26, of 73 East Strand, was booked by local police on a third degree burglary charge shortly after they were notified last night of a "possible burglary" at Buck's scrap metal building, East Strand.

Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn today adjourned preliminary hearing to Friday. Bail, fixed at $500 was not immediately posted.

A police report at 8:20 p. m. indicated that "two males" had been seen coming out of the scrap metal yard. Porter was apprehended on lower Broadway by officers Richard Scherer and Curtis VanDemark, and after an investigation and questioning by Detective Gurnsey Burger, was booked on the charge.

Police said the building had been entered through a side window, but nothing was reported missing.

Detectives are still investigating to determine if another suspect was involved.

World News In Brief

To Investigate Charges

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Indian and Canadian military representatives of the three-nation control commission flew to Attopeu, in southern Laos, Wednesday to investigate charges that the pro-Communist Pathet Lao is preparing another attack there.

Poland, the Communist third member of the commission, refused to send a representative on the mission.

Claim Sweeping Gains

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) —Iraq claimed more sweeping gains against Kurdish rebels today but other sources said the Kurds were putting up stiff resistance.

Travelers reaching Beirut, Lebanon, reported the Kurds set fire to two oil wells near Kirkuk and killed five Iraqi employes of the British-controlled Iraq Petroleum Co.

Stricken From Rolls

GENEVA (AP)—African and Soviet bloc nations that walked out of the International Labor Organization annual conference probably will be stricken from the conference rolls, ILO officials say.

That would allow conference officials to muster the two-thirds majority needed to pass their budget and other resolutions.

Thirty African nations walked out after their demand to expel the South African delegation failed. The Communist Bloc joined the walkout to protest South Africa's segregation policies.

Cites Panama Role

PANAMA (AP) — Panama should have a hand in running the sea-level canal the United States proposes to build across the Panamanian isthmus, a lawyer for the Foreign Ministry says.

The lawyer, Eloy Benedetti, told a television audience that Panama receives little from the U.S.-operated Panama Canal compared with the $150 million he said the United Arab Republic earns annually from its operation of the Suez Canal.

Open Discussion Of Urban Renewal Set for Downtown

Urban renewal will be discussed at a meeting tonight of the Rondout Area Business Men's Association, at Ray's Riverside Rest, Ferry Street, and it was announced it will be "an open session to enable all parties interested in urban renewal to attend."

The association plans to hear and question Ralph Marallo, local urban renewal relocation director. His talk is expected to range from past relocation experience to present plans for the Broadway East project.

Other guests expected to attend are Max Mones, assistant relocation director; Ward B. Tongue, urban renewal director, and Frank Reis, president of the Central Business Men's Association. Dinner will be served before the meeting, which is due to start at 8:30 p. m.

Tiros Orbits, Sends Photos

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Tiros 7 weather observatory satellite rocketed into orbit today and on its first global pass transmitted a series of cloud cover pictures.

The robot weatherman, main assignment of which is to study hurricanes and typhoons born in the 1963 season, shot into orbit aboard a three-stage Delta rocket which blazed into the predawn darkness from Cape Canaveral at 4:50 a.m.

The satellite, in tandem with the earlier Tiros 6, could provide the most extensive photographic investigation yet of a full hurricane season.

Two hours after launching, after the space package completed one circuit of the earth, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration annnounced it was in successful orbit about 400 miles above the earth. Minutes later a tracking station at Wallops Island, Va., reported receiving a set of cloud pictures which were described as being good quality.

The success was the 18th straight for the Delta space rocket.

LPN Course Set For Adult School Program in Fall

The first Licensed Practical Nursing course of the Adult Education Department of the Kingston school system opened in September 1962 and will end in August 1963. Of the 24 who entered the class, 19 or 20 will be graduated in August and have no difficulty in finding positions.

Applications are now being accepted for the second class which is to open in September. Students are accepted both from residents of the Kington City Schools, Consolidated, area and from outside the district. The age of the students ranges from 18 to 50 years of age. Good reading comprehension is essential but high school graduation is not necessary.

Excellent laboratory and classroom facilities have been established in the Brigham School (No. 6) and practical experience is gained at all local hospitals, Kingston Hospital, Benedictine Hospital and the County Infirmary. The school is fortunate in having a capable and qualified faculty that works with the full cooperation of the hospitals.

Further information about the course may be obtained from the Director of Adult Education in the Vocational building of Kingston High School.

Community Service Awards Totaling $1,100 Available at State Exhibit; Contest Opens

All civic-minded women's groups are invited to compete for $1,100 in cash awards in the 12th Annual Community Service Awards Contest, sponsored by the Women's Division of the New York State Exposition.

Mrs. Helen B. Vandervort, Women's Division director, who made the announcement, noted the purpose of the contest is to provide recognition for the many fine efforts at community betterment made by women's groups in New York State. It is also hoped, she continued, that the contest will provide an exchange of ideas and inspiration for groups seeking a way to solve local problems or to aid their areas in some way.

In addition to the regular contest there are also divisions for teen-age groups and senior citizen's day centers.

The 1963 Exposition opens Tuesday, August 27 in Syracuse for seven days and nights.

Deadline for entries in the contest, which is open to all women's groups, clubs and organizations in New York State is Friday, June 28, said Mrs. M. Harrison Greene, awards chairman.

She noted nationally affiliated groups are eligible to compete but the project must be at the local level. Also, winners of cash awards in recent years may re-enter totally new projects. Entrants need not be formal organizations and there are no size restrictions.

A special contest for teenage groups is being continued for the second consecutive year, said Mrs. Greene. All New York State groups whose membership is at least 75 per cent girls between the ages of 15 and 18 are eligible.

Prizes in the regular division are: first—$500; second—$200; and third—$100. Teenage Division prizes are: first—$200 and second $100.

The Most Outstanding Senior Citizen's Day Center in the State will be awarded a beautifully engraved silver punch bowl, said Mrs. Greene. This contest is being offered for the first time this year and is open to all centers operating a minimum of three days a week during the past 50 weeks.

Awards will be presented at the annual Women's Day Program Wednesday, August 28 in the Helen Bull Vandervort Wing of the Harriet May Mills Building.

Entry forms and complete details can be obtained by writing: Mrs. Helen B. Vandercort, Director, Women's Division, New York State Exposition, Syracuse 9, New York.

Wedding Announcements in Two Languages

Q: I am going to be married to a doctor who is a German citizen. The wedding will take place in Germany the end of September. I would like to send out wedding announcements to relatives and friends after the wedding, which will be very quiet. As these announcements will be going to my fiance's relatives and friends in Germany as well as to my own here in this country, I had considered having the announcements engraved in both languages—German on the left hand side of the center fold and English on the right hand side. Will you please tell me if this will be proper?

A: Rather than a double announcement, it will be best to have two separate announcements engraved — those to be mailed to relatives and friends in the United States in English and the others in German.

Answering a Guest's Parting Thanks

Q: What is the correct reply for a hostess to make to a guest who says when leaving, "Thank you for a lovely party."

A: She replies, "Thank you for coming."

The First Guests to Leave

Q: My husband and I were invited to a cocktail and buffet supper party of approximately 20 guests. We were the first ones to leave the party. We sought out the host and hostess, said our thanks and departed without saying good-night to any of the other guests. Was this the correct thing to do or should we have gone around to the other guests and said goodby to them?

A: No, you were right. Guests leaving a party early should do so as inconspicuously as possible so as not to risk having the other guests feel that it is time for them to go, too.

Wedding Vows Are Exchanged on June 15 By Mary Rose Lamaro and Robert F. DeDea

Marriage vows were exchanged on June 15 at 11 in St. Catherine Laboure Church by Mary Rose Lamaro of Kingston and Robert Francis DeDea, also of this city.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. McNally, celebrant of the nuptial Mass, read the Papal blessing.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamaro of Saugerties Road, Kingston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene DeDea of 110 Madison Avenue, Kingston.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Angelo Altomari and Mrs. James Sweeney was the soloist.

The church was decorated with pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums. The family pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by he father, wore a white silk peau de soie gown designed with a modified scoop neckline, bracelet sleeves and a sheath-bouffant skirt with a full cathedral train. The bodice was decorated with lace appliques of rose point which were repeated on the front of the skirt. A pure silk illusion fingertip veil was shirred by a crown of crystals and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white gardenias and swansonia.

Miss Josephine Ann Lamaro, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a floor length pink silk gown styled with a scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and a modified bell skirt trimmed at the waist in back with two set bows. She wore a crown of deeper pink and carried a cascade of deeper pink baby roses and white carnations.

Other attendants were the Misses Mary Ann Kennedy of Kingston and Constance D'Amato of Wantagh, L. I., cousin of the bride. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor's and they carried cascades of deep pink roses and carnations.

Eugene DeDea of El Paso, Texas, brother of the bridegroom was the best man. Ushering were Richard Lamaro, of Brooklyn and James DiDonna, both cousins of the bride.

A reception for 200 guests was given at The Capri in Port Ewen.

The bride was graduated from the Academy of St. Ursula and is employed by Roland A. Augustine. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and served with the U. S. Air Force. He is employed by The Kingston Glass Company.

For traveling, the bride choose a pink ensemble with matching accessories and a white gardenia corsage. The couple will reside at 150 Linderman Avenue, this city, after a wedding trip to Bermuda.

Maverick Concerts in Woodstock to Open; First Is Scheduled for Sunday, June 30

Following a precedent of excellence which remains undiminished through the years, the Maverick Concerts for the 1963 season will again present a series of concerts by musicians of top calibre with old favorites and some fine new names included.

The first concert to take place Sunday, June 30 at 3 p. m. at the Maverick Concert Hall, will feature a quartet whose members will be Leonard Posner, violin; Harry Zaratzian, viola; Avron Twerdowsky, cello, and Ilsa Sass, piano, long-time Woodstock resident for whom local devotees have an especially high regard.

The Saturday concert for July 6, will have an irresistible appeal for Woodstock residents for on that evening Ruth Conway, the former Ruth Cohn, and her younger sister, Barbara Cohn, now a college sophomore, will perform in a duet. Miss Conway has been reaping laurels as a mezzo soprano who is destined for a fine future, and Barbara, who is attending the New England Conservatory of Music, is rapidly becoming a clarinetist of professional stature.

Other favorites will be Joseph Wolman, Mildred Dilling, Sidney Harth and Isabelle Byman. Another old friend, and one of the finest violinists in the country, will also return, William Kroll who will perform with the distinguished Arthur Balsam at the piano.

Repeating one of the remarkable successes of the 1962 season will be the Paul Price Percussion quartet.

Frank Mele, Woodstock's own violinist, will appear with The Curtis String Quartet, and one of the August programs will feature The Claremont Quartet, a top group also familiar to local audiences.

The final program in the series to take place Sunday at 3 p. m. on Sept. 1, will be the Cohn Foundation Concert, named in honor of the late Dr. Hans Cohn. The featured work on this program will be the first performance of a Piano Trio by Richard Donovan, this year's chamber music work, commissioned by the Cohn Foundation.

Junior League New Members Begin Study At Luncheon Meeting

A luncheon meeting for the new provisional members of the Junior League of Kingston was held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Gade recently.

The girls have been invited to join the League and are required to complete a course approved by the Association of the Junior Leagues of America. The purpose of this course is to foster interest in the social, economic, educational, cultural and civic conditions of the community.

This year these girls will attend a Common Council meeting at the City Hall, a Board of Education meeting, a session at both City and County Courts. They will tour the various clinics such as cerebral palsy, tumor and Gateway Industries.

Mrs. Mary D. Short talked to them about the recreational facilities in the community and Miss Rosemary Feeney spoke of the role of the Welfare Department in the community.

They will attend lectures on Parliamentary Procedure by Mrs. Peter Corsones, Public Health by Dr. Theodore Drachman, head of the Ulster County Health Department. Mrs. Percy Lyon, chairman of the Junior League Thrift Shop will explain its purpose and the duties that will be expected of them as League members.

The group is expected to attend a board meeting and all regular meetings. They are responsible for editing the February issue of the Newsheet.

One of their projects is to take fifteen boys from the Children's Home for a picnic supper and games at Forsyth Park.

By Jan. 1 they will submit a brief evaluation of the course at which time all work must be finished. At the February meeting, the girls will be accepted into active membership.

MRS. ROY HAROLD HAVENS

Miss Mary Klonowski, Roy Harold Havens Are Wed Here; Will Reside in California

The wedding of Miss Mary Susan Klonowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Klonowski of 34 Hunter Street and Roy Harold Havens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Havens of 123 Greenkill Avenue took place at St. Mary's Church 2 p. m. Sunday, June 9.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiated at the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with white glamellias.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white Alencon lace designed with a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline, long sleeves and a bouffant ballerina length skirt. Her French illusion veil was secured by a crown of pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade of glamellias.

Miss Evelyn North of West Union Street was maid of honor. She wore a blue gown with crescent neckline, abbreviated sleeves, molded bodice and bell shaped skirt with white pearl trim. Her matching cap of triple roses trimmed with pearls held a chapel veil. She carried an arrangement of blue glamelias.

Bridesmaids, the Misses Margie Gillespie and Juanita Wells, were gowned in yellow and carried yellow glamellias.

Donald Havens of Hurley was best man for his brother. Ushers were Lester Havens of Main Street, brother of the bridegroom, Harry Pratt of West Union Street and William Weaver of Sterling Street.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the Casablanca.

For a wedding trip to New York City, Canada and Wisconsin, Mrs. Havens chose a white suit with blue accessories and a blue glamellia corsage.

The couple will make their home at 20236 Labrador Street, Chatsworth, Calif.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's School and attended Kingston High School. Mr. Havens, a Kingston High School graduate was employed at Canfield Machine and Tool Company.

Personals

Master Terry Wirth served as ringbearer at his cousin's wedding. Exchanging vows were Fern Bills and Albert E. Teetsel. The ceremony took place on June 8 at St. James Methodist Church, this city.

Two Karen Rosses Will Compete for State Beauty Crown at Pageant Here Next Month

A girl named Karen Ross may well be the next Miss New York State . . . in fact she will have twice as much opportunity as the other 20 contestants. The secret is that there are two beautiful and talented young ladies bearing the same name who will compete for the coveted title in the state finals of the Miss New York State Pageant to be held in Kingston, July 4, 5 and 6.

Karen Jane Ross (Miss Town of Evans) was graduated from Lake Shore Central High School, Angola, in 1960. This fall she will enter the senior class at State University College, Fredonia. She plans to teach secondary English.

Karen Ann Ross (Miss Batavia) will graduate from Warsaw Central High School this month. She will enter Alfred Technical Institute in September to prepare as a Laboartory Technician.

By coincidence both Karens have a great deal in common. Both have brown eyes and fair complexion. Both come from comparatively small towns. They are the oldest of three children in their respective families and each have two brothers. Their fathers are deceased and both reside with their mother.

The namesakes list swimming among their favorite pastimes. However, Karen Ann the younger and smaller of the two adds active sports, such as tennis, tumbling and working on apparatus as part of her recreational activities. Karen Jane on the other hand lists sewing, reading, cooking, baking along with the milder sports; bowling, badminton and bicycling.

Both girls have had similar part time employment. Karen Jane worked as a waitress and Karen Ann as attendant at a soda bar.

The similarity does not end here. Just to make it more difficult for the judges of the Miss New York State Pageant, each girl will give a dramatic reading for the talent portion of the competition. Karen Jane will give an excerpt from Thornton Wilder's, "Our Town" while Karen Ann will present a dialect monologue.

Holland-Long Nuptials Are Announced; Ceremony at First Church of the Nazarene

Barbara Pauline Holland, daughter of Mrs. Marian Albrecht Holland of 28 Oak Street and the late Rev. Ira B. Holland, exchanged marriage vows with Thomas Joseph Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verlin F. Long of Pleasant Plains, Staten Island, N. Y.

The double ring ceremony took place by candlelight Friday, June 7 at 8 p. m. in the First Church of the Nazarene, this city. The church was decorated with floral arrangementes of white gladioli and pompons. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbon. Officiating was the Rev. Willis R. Scott of Warren, Ohio, former pastor of the church. Kenneth D. White was organist and George Ronk was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Ervin Albrecht of Kenmore, N. Y., the bride wore a floor length gown of white nylon mist posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered lace sleeves and a circlet neckline beaded with sequins. The full bell-shaped skirt featured flounces to the floor. Her elbow length veil of wide English illusion was attached to a crown of cut crystal and she carried a Bible with white roses, cascades and showers.

Miss Patricia Marie Holland was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a street length gown of aqua silk organza over taffeta styled with a fitted bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a scoop neckline. The bell shaped skirt featured a flower applique and she wore a matching headpiece with a chapel veil. She carried a nosegay of yellow and pink carnations with aqua ribbon and showers.

Miss Betty June Holland, the bride's sister, and Miss Mary Rose Ragonese of North Syracuse served as bridesmaids. Their gowns and accessories were identical to that of the honor attendant except in yellow and pink. They carried nosegays of white carnations, one with yellow ribbon and showers and the other with pink. Kathy Jean Kirtson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirtson, served as flower girl and was escorted by James White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. White. She wore a floor length frock of white dotted swiss over taffeta with a white floral headpiece. She carried a miniature nosegay of pink, yellow and aqua carnations with white ribbon and showers.

Gerald Garfman of Accord was best man. Ushers were Harold Henderson of Watertown and Barry Dunn of Connelly.

Approximately 150 guests were received at a reception given at First Baptist Church hall. The couple left afterwards for a wedding trip to Howe Caverns and Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Long wore a pink linen suit with a corsage of white roses and white accessories.

Mrs. Long was graduated from Kingston High School and is a student at Eastern Nazarene College, Quincy, Mass. Her husband, an alumnus of Tottenville High School, Staten Island, is also attending Eastern Nazarene and is now employed by Foordmore Farms Dairies, Kyserike.

Mr. and Mrs. Long plan to reside at 28 Oak Street until they return to college in the fall.

Local Young Demos President Named to State Executive Post

Miss Mildred Campbell, president of the Ulster County Young Democrats, was elected a vice president of the New York State Young Democrats at the convention held at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15. Mrs. John Kearney of Staten Island was elected president of the New York State group.

Miss Campbell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Campbell of Churubusco. She received her BA degree from Plattsburgh State Teachers College and is a teacher in the Kingston Consolidated School District at Lake Katrine School.

William Kelly, Ulster County Democratic chairman, and Mrs. Florence Crosby, vice chairman, announce that they are deeply gratified that an Ulster County Young Democrat has been so signally honored.

The Ulster County Young Democrats were reorganized by Mrs. Crosby in February. The officers are Miss Campbell, president; John Logan, New Paltz, vice president; Miss Eileen Kelly, Kingston, secretary; Thomas Dachenhausen, Ruby, treasurer. Membership in the group is open to any young person interested in the development of the Democratic Party and information may be obtained by contacting any of the officers, or Rosetta Maniscalco, Rosendale, membership chairman.

JCC Students Will Have Art Show Today

The children's art class at the Jewish Community Center, 96 Maiden Lane, this city, will have an exhibition of their paintings this afternoon from 4-5:30.

The exhibit will be open also on Thursday during the same hours.

According to Mrs. Frances Stein, well known Woodstock artist, who instructs the class, the paintings will represent the work of the children during the fall and winter term.

The 19 youngsters showing are seven to 11 years of age. They are: Susan Helmrich, Eileen Clarkin, Judy Reynolds, Judy Motzkin, Carrie Motzkin, Laurie Abramsky, Barbara Feddes, Jioia Marchetti, Gay Andrews, Lydia Kaufman, Betsy Sife Ott, Ricky Kamen, Abbey Weissman, Brian Dubin, Kevin Connerton, Chris Connerton, Eric Berger, Seth Meyers and Steven Goldberg.

Robert Kurland, director of the Center, has extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Local Columbiettes At NY Convention

The ninth annual New York State Council Columbiette Convention was held June 7-9 at the Hotel Syracuse in Syracuse. Miss Evelyn Volpe, president of the New York State Council, presided. The Columbiettes of Bishop Curley Council, Knights of Columbus, hosted the convention, which was presided over by Mrs. Howard Mackey.

Delegates from the Columbiettes of Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus were Mrs. Vincent McDonough, president; and Miss Dorothy Fitzgerald, recording secretary.

Also attending the convention were: Mrs. James Kelly, newly elected vice president of Kingston Columbiettes; and Mrs. Edward Ahl, elected for her second term as state treasurer.

Personals

BUFFALO—Anne C. Hallinan, 45 Clifton Avenue, Kingston, has been elected president of the SOC—Subsidiary Organizations Council—at D'Youville College in Buffalo for 1963-64. Miss Hallinan will be a senior in the fall. She is the daughter of Mrs. Arthur Hallinan and the late Mr. Hallinan, who served as city engineer for Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Brown of 142 Third Avenue will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, June 23. Friends and neighbors will attend the open house reception.

Republican Women Schedule Last Meeting Of Season for Thursday; Speaker Listed

The Ulster County Republican Women's Club will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel. It will be the final meeting of the season.

Mrs. Bernhardt S. Kramer, program chairman, has planned a special presentation for this last meeting. She has announced that Mrs. Masaka Noda Economos will give a program on Japanese Flower Arrangements and Origami (paper folding).

Mrs. Economos attended the oldest flower arranging school in Japan and studied with Ikenoho, master flower arranger. She has received degrees in three different types of Japanese arranging. These include, center pieces, tall and buffet arrangements. She attended school for an additional year in order to qualify as a Master and permit her to teach.

A Japanese war bride, she is married to George Economos. The couple have six children and reside in Kingston.

All members and friends are invited to attend. Those attending may take flowers and holders for arrangements.

DINNER FOR RETIRED CHIEF—Francis Joy, retired chief for Sawkill Fire Company, was honored at a dinner recently. He was cited for his 11 years of outstanding service. Guest speaker for the occasion was retired deputy chief Harold Sanford of the Kingston Paid Fire Department. President of the fire company Eugene Phillips presents Chief Joy with a life membership. The company also named Joy an Honorary Chief. Fire Commissioner of the Sawkill Fire District presented Chief Joy with a plaque. In the picture are (l-r) Fire Commissioner Herbert Dixon, Harold Sanford, guest speaker; Chief Joy; Fire Commissioner Harry Siemson, Earl Sleight and Lyndon Seaver. More than 50 attended the gala event. Herbert Dixon was host.

MARIA LO PINTO

Maria Lo Pinto Has Another Cookbook Published; Features Foods of Italy

Piedmont, Lombardy, Tuscany, Sicily, and Sardinia. Italy has 16 distinct regions plus the two islmands of the Tyrrhenian Sea, and each has evolved its special style of cooking. The cooking of the north no more resembles meal resembles spaghetti. Butter is used in the north, olive oil in the south; in some areas garlic is only a dictionary word.

In a new book titled "The Art of Regional Italian Cooking," Maria Lo Pinto has collected the specialties of all the regions of Italy, with carefeully translated and tested recipes.

Miss Lo Pinto is the sister of Mrs. J. DiPeri of Lucas Avenue extension, this city. She has a home of her own near the DiPeri house but resides during the week in New York with two other sisters. Miss Lo Pinto is a Wall Street lawyer.

Miss Lo Pinto, well known for her two previous books on the food of Italy, "The Art of Italian Cooking," which sold more than 92,000 copies, and "The Art of Making Italian Desserts," has introduced each of the regions with hits of history and folklore concerning its specialties, in her latest publication.

A cocktail party was given for Miss Lo Pinto aboard the SS Independence when the book was released by the publishers, Doubleday. Among those attending were members of the press, radio and TV and friends of the author. The party was given on Thursday, June 13.

Miss LoPinto expects to visit her sister in Kingston very soon. She will leave afterwards for Europe where she expects to spend the summer.

Kiwanis Awards 13 Scholarships Here

N. Jansen Fowler, chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, today announced the winners of the annual scholarships awarded by the local service club.

Listed as recipients of Kiwanis scholarships were Frank Storm, Dominick Mercurio, Peter Maas, Jeffrey Davis, Frank Zygmont, Allen Hinkey, Sharon Fitzgerald, Grace Koch, Leslie Lawrence, Marsha Rudd, Karen Ohlsen, Linda Schoonmaker and Barbara Buddenhagen.

According to Fowler, over 20 applicants were personally interviewed by the committee.

Kiwanis scholarships range from $100 to $500 each, depending upon the category desired by the applicant. The annual presentation known as the Kiwanis Kapers furnishes the source of revenue which makes it possible for the service club to award the annual scholarships.

Coach House Players Annual Banquet and Installation Is Held

The Coach House Players held their annual banquet at Broglio's Saturday evening. Mrs. Herbert Greenwald was dinner chairman. The occasion was the induction of the new officers.

George Betts, president, made a presentation to Mrs. Edward Finn, the retiring president, in the name of the organization.

The speaker for the event was Bill Skilling, director of Coach House major productions. Mr. Skilling pointed out the pride that members might feel in the organization which holds a unique position in the community, as it is the only Little Theatre group in a radius of 18 miles.

The Coach House Players is a member of the New York State Community Theatre Association. They welcome those in the community, who have an active interest in theatre work, as members.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Lisa Tiano—Telephone OR 9-9323

Sonia Malkine, KiKi Godwin Heading Foundation Revival

Sonia Malkine of Shady, prominent lute virtuoso and ballad singer, has been named temporary chairman of a committee which is attempting to revive the Woodstock Foundation.

Mrs. Malkine was the unanimous choice of a dozen residents who met at the Town House last week to discuss revival of the Foundation which did not function in 1962.

Kiki Godwin, co-publisher of the Ulster County Townsman and one of the prime movers of the Foundation over the years was named secretary and Mrs. Fritzi Striebel, treasurer. Ruth Tuck and Charles J. Tiano, vice president in 1961, were named to the publicity committee.

Permanent officers will be elected at a meeting scheduled on Monday, June 24, at 8 p. m. at the Town House. Invitations have been extended to more than 100 persons in the community and the meeting is open. Anyone interested in assisting in the revival of the Foundation is welcome.

Outstanding Event

Down through the years, the Foundation's annual production has been one of the highlights of the Woodstock summer season. It was generally staged at the Woodstock Playhouse following the close of the Playhouse season. More than 50 artists, writers and musicians have been recipients of cash awards by the Foundation.

The Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting indicated it would assist the Foundation if it were reorganized.

Among those attending the Town House meeting were: Sonia Malkine, Kiki Godwin, Fritzi Striebel, Charles J. Tiano, Howard Kondolf, Sylvia Kondolf, Virginia Hubbell, Bernice Baptiste, Edith Le Fever, Ruth Tuck, Sharon Cherven and Manuel Bromberg.

Opera Prolific Writing Medium

Operas are written at an amazing rate. They appear like mushrooms after the rain. The quantity is overwhelming, the quality depressive. Some of the better ones are written in Germany. Hans Werner Wenze made a new version of his "Koenig Hirsch," a free adaptation of Gozzi's "Il Re Cervo." The Yugoslav composer, Marcel Mihalovici, wrote the "Twins." It was called a "jewel of modern buffo opera," representing some sort of Offenbach style, Michael Trippett's "King Priam" is based upon Homer's Iliad. Each character is represented by a group of instruments, a device previously employed by Prokofiev. The composer also uses keyboard instruments in the orchestra.

Attractive Titles

Attractiveness of titles was always emphasized as important for selling. This now is extended to the name of the performing company, not of the performed works only. Whether it is a Lemonade Opera Company (for those who like soft drinks the pendant would be the Cocktail Opera) or the After Dinner Opera Company that performs now in the Pocket Theatre of New York such works as "Perpetual" by the neglected Vienna-born California composer, Ernest Kanitz.

Woodstockers might remember his Piano Trio which this writer performed some years ago. "Perpetual" will be a premiere like "Bagatelle" by Claude Pascal and Greta Hartwig Manschinger (the latter the wife of composer Ashley Vernon, recte Manschinger, once a favorite composer of the Turnau Opera. Sweet Betsy From Pike" by Mark Bucci will be revived; also, "Apollo and Persephone" by Gerald Cockshoff; "Ladies Voices" by Vernon Martin; "In a Garden" by Meyer Kupferman (don't you remember this?) and "Pietro's Petard" by Hall Overton. Not all of them which are claimed to be premieres are first performances. Yet the world premiere is supposed to add to the attraction.

Courage and Heroism

Short operas (a classification term like short stories) have at least one great asset. They are not long. To be forced to listen to more than one at a time is cruel. This writer once had the rewarding experience to play in the orchestra at the Prague premiere of Arnold Schoenberg's monodrama "Erwartung." It was a splendid performance that was brought about by rivers of sweat. At a modern music festival at Hanover, Gunther Wich conducted three such short operas by Schoenberg (never mind their names). The composer's widow did not shun the travel expenses coming from Los Angeles to Hanover in order to add some personal flavor to the performance. Konrad Selb wrote to this writer: "It requires great courage to perform three of these works instead of one. It requires great heroism from the side of the listener to attend three such performances. It has the effect of an overdose of drug of which the patient takes three pills instead of one.

About Rolf Libermann: This gifted Swiss composer's piece for symphonic orchestra and jazz was a favorite of the late Dimitri Mitropoulos. Now Libermann is the successful director of the Hamburg Opera. He is about to revive the great tradition of Hamburg as an opera center known in music history since the days of Keiser, Telemann, Mattheson and Haendel. His new production in 1963-64 will include some outsiders such as Verdi's "Nabucco" (150th anniversary of Verdi's birthday); Rossini's "The Turk in Italy" (a new text will replace the silly one); and Haendel's "Jephta."

The Austrian born Ernest Krenek was commissioned to write an opera for Hamburg ("Der Goldene Bock"). The Hamburg ensemble also will perform at the Zagreb (Yugoslavia) Modern Music Festival, Alban Berg's "Lulu" and "Wozzeck" and Stravinsky's "Oedipus Rex." Modestly, Liebermann does not necessarily stress his own operas "Leonora 40-45" and "Penelope", the latter performed at the Salzburg Festival in 1954, brought Libermann's name to the attention of the world. — H. A. SCHIMMERLING.

Barbara Moncure Creative Arts Camp Addition

An added feature of the Creative Arts Camp opening July 1 on Wiley Road, Woodstock, will be Barbara Moncure and her guitar.

The camp emphasizes the arts of the stage, the dance, painting and music, with active participation by all girls who attend. Mrs. Moncure will sing and lead group singing one evening each week.

Mrs. Moncure, widely known as a folk singer, brings to this activity a remarkable gift for stimulating groups to sing together with enjoyment and an increased understanding of the part music plays in life. Her musical background is a rich one, including singing, collecting folk music, composition and teaching. She teaches music at the Wiltwyck School and coaches the school's well-known steel drum band, which has made recent radio and television appearances.

Her musical play, The Bearded Dragopod, was given its most recent performance by the Coach House players of Kingston.

Democratic Club Meets Thursday

Woodstock Democratic Club holds its monthly meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Town House.

Among the items on the agenda will be resolutions on the Board of Trustees of the Community College; the highway department and proposed state park in the Wittenberg area.

A preliminary report will be made on the annual fall rally and Mrs. Betty Biesele will report on the highly successful annual rummage sale.

Representative Samuel Stratton of Schenectady has tentatively accepted an invitation to visit Woodstock for the rally but at this stage is unable to pinpoint a date.

"Schweppes is the only mixer for an authentic Tonic drink," says Commander Whitehead.

The President of Schweppes U.S.A. demonstrates the one-and-only correct way to pour a Tonic drink

(Slowly—into a tilted glass—and don't stir)

"I AM fanatic on the subject of bubbles," says Commander Whitehead, President of Schweppes U.S.A.

Schweppes Tonic isn't only famous for its thirst-quenching, bittersweet flavor. Schweppes is also famous for its unique carbonation—little bubbles that last your whole drink through.

Considering that the House of Schweppes has worked since 1794 to perfect Schweppervescence, won't you do your part when you pour your next Tonic drink?

First put the liquor in your glass, then add the Tonic slowly. Pour down the side of the glass.

Don't squander the Schweppervescence by dashing your Tonic on the rocks. Don't stir your bubbles to death.

Now sip slowly. Ahhhh! Curiously refreshing, don't you agree?

P.S. Keep an eye on your barman. Whether you order Gin-and-Tonic, Vodka-and-Tonic, Rum-and-Tonic, or just plain Tonic, make sure that the Tonic you get is Schweppes. The real thing. Made from imported English ingredients.

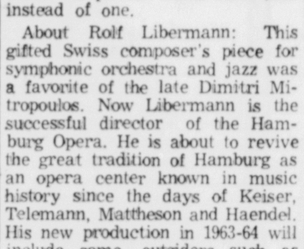

Convenient way to buy Schweppes: In no deposit, no return bottles. So compact!

Schweppes inimitable flavor is protected, naturally, by glass.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1864, the naval battle between the U. S. S. Kearsarger and the Confederacy's warship, Alabama, took place off the harbor of Cherbourg, France. The two-hour battle eight miles offshore ended with the sinking of the Confederate vessel after it had refused to surrender.

On this date:

In 1754, a Congress of seven American colonies met in Albany, N.Y., to discuss colonial policy on Indian affairs.

In 1867, Emperor Maxmillian of Mexico was executed by the Juarists at Queretaro.

In 1912, the Progressive or "Bull Moose" party was organized and at its first national convention, in Chicago, nominated former President Theodore Roosevelt as its presidential candidate.

In 1942, Axis forces surrounded the British-held Libyan stronghold of Tobruk during World War II.

In 1947, Lake Charles, Louisiana, recorded 15½ inches of rain in six hours—heaviest rainfall in the history of the U.S. Weather Bureau up to that time.

Ten years ago: Convicted atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were executed at Sing Sing Prison in Ossining, N.Y.

Five years ago: The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia voided the security dismissals of six former Army employees at Ft. Monmouth, New Jersey, on the ground that the Army had violated its own regulations by not telling them the reasons for their dismissal.

One year ago: Two attempts by U.S. scientists to explode a thermonuclear bomb high above Johnston Island in the Pacific ended in failure.

Jewel of a Trip

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Near the end of the run of a Des Moines street bus, three passengers remained. Their given names were Ruby, Pearl, and Opal.

They commented to the coincidence to the bus driver, who said:

"You've got the right driver then—my name is Stone. Arthur Stone."

Old Star Returns

NEW YORK (AP) After a 20-year absence, Ethel Shutta is returning to the theater in a featnred role in "Jennie."

Miss Shutta was vocalist with the George Olsen dance orchestra during the 20's, appeared in "The Passing Show" with Fred Allen and "Whoopee" with Eddie Cantor.

In "Jennie," due on Broadway next fall, Miss Shutta will play the mother of Mary Martin.

Elke Draws Stares

Fraulein Prefer Autobahn, Feels Freeway Too Slow

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOOD (AP)—The Los Angeles freeways, which frighten visitors and many Angelenos, too, hold no terror for German actress Elke Sommer.

Her only complaint: they're too slow.

Knows Her Motors

"On the autobahn in Germany there is no limit," she commented. "I like to cruise around 120 or 130."

Lest the National Safety Council get exercised, it should be added that the girl knows her motors and has never so much as dented a fender.

Her penchant for fast cars is something Hollywood hasn't noticed yet. Her other aspects—36-32-36 have caused considerable stir, as well as her dramatic talent. Having appeared opposite Horst Buchholz and Alain Delon in European films, she was imported to costar with Paul Newman in "The Prize."

When not working, she is usually driving on the slowpoke freeways and less inhibiting roads of Southern California. In two months she has netted two tickets.

"One was unfair, the other wasn't," she said. "I got caught going through a red light I didn't see on my way to work. Why should police be out watching me drive at 5:30 in the morning? It's not right."

Elke can sweet talk her way out of traffic tickets in five languages. In Europe she owns three cars, all convertibles. "Since I work indoors so much on films, it's the only chance I have to get some fresh air and sunshine," she explained.

She started driving as soon as she reached the legal age of 18 in Italy, where her film career began. As anyone who has driven on the Continent will tell you, if you can master the Italian traffic, you can drive anywhere.

"Yes, the Italian drivers are the craziest," she commented. "They use the horn instead of the brake. In Sicily they drive like lunatics.

"Paris is a challenge. The drivers don't care what gets in their way; they just keep going. It is easy to drive in England, once you get used to using the wrong side of the road.

"Germany is all right, except for the women drivers. I hate women drivers."

Exposition Art Awards Won by 4 Kingston Youths

Four Kingston area youths received awards in the first New York State Exposition Poster Contest judged at the Randolph House in Syracuse it was announced today by Exposition Director, Harold L. Creal.

Second place in the Grades 10-12 category was won by Dawn Osterhoudt, 17, a twelfth grader at Rondout Valley Central School. She is the daughter of Fred G. Osterhoudt, Queen's Highway, Kerhonkson. Second place award is a $25 United States Savings Bond.

The other three artists will receive honorable mention certificates.

They are: Barbara Zygmont, 15, a ninth grader at Kingston High School who entered the Grades 7-9 category. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zygmont, Esopus.

Victory H. Brockbank, 18, a twelfth grader at Rondout Valley Central School, entered the Grades 10-12 category. She is the daughter of Mrs. Louise V. Brockbank, Berme Road, Kerhonkson.

Richard W. Deason, 18, an eleventh grader at Rondout Valley Central School, also entered the Grades 10-12 category.

He is the son of Mrs. Stella Krom of Accord.

The 1963 Exposition opens Tuesday, August 27 in Syracuse for seven days and nights.

About 500 posters in four different categories were entered in the contest.

Judges were: The Rev. Thomas J. Costello, Superintendent of Schools, Roman Catholic Diocese of Syracuse; Gordon Muck, Supervisor of Arts, Syracuse Public Schools; and Professor John Vargo, Syracuse University School of Art.

County 4-H Club Members Named To Cornell Meet

Twelve Ulster County 4-H members have been chosen to attend the 37th Annual New York 4-H Club Congress at the State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, Cornell University, June 25-27. More than 1,000 boys, girls and leaders will attend.

Representing Ulster County are: Kathy Bowers, and Judy Lyke, Lomontville; Rosa Lou McGuffey, Accord; Carol Larsen, Stone Ridge; Martha Nickerson, Sawkill; June Robinson, Lincoln Park; Joan Miller and Kenneth Wamsley, Hurley; Norman Gaffney, Kingston; Harold Hommel, Flatbush; Douglas McCord, Gardiner; James Rieker, Connelly; Robert Weiss, Saugerties; and Miss Mary Lou Rice, associate county 4-H Club agent.

Highlighting the three-day event will be a citizenship forum and talk by Kenneth D. Wells, president of Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge. His topic is "How Is Your Patriotism?" That evening the annual Citizenship ceremony will be held.

Robert R. Pinches, program leader, 4-H and youth development, Federal Extension Service, will open the Wednesday program with a talk on "You and Your Career," to be followed by further exploration of careers in agriculture and home economics. Delegates planning to apply for entrance to Cornell will also have opportunity to talk to admissions personnel.

All delegates will participate in activities ranging from home economics, conservation and vegetable crops to communications, personal goals, and how to be a good listener. Here again, many interest groups will give the young people opportunity to discuss and learn more about career opportunities.

4-H members will tour the Cornell campus, the Veterinary college, and animal husbandry building. Sports, swimming, the annual party, and traditional candle-lighting ceremony are also on the program.

Held in conjunction with Club Congress is the annual get-together of 4-H members who have won state, national, or international trip awards. The 13th annual gathering on June 27 will feature a picnic lunch, supper, and talk by State 4-H Leader Wilbur F. Pease.

Gruesome Relic

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An item of equipment which hasn't been used in this century, was found recently in a dark storage spot beneath the Montgomery County jail.

It's a hangman's scaffold. Records show it last was used June 15, 1877, when a Union Army veteran — charged with bashing in a companion's head to get his money — was hanged.

Merchants Ace Fans 15 Batters In 8-0 Victory

The two-day old City Baseball League has its first no-hit, no-run game.

Johnny Nolan, strong-armed Kingston Merchants right hander, turned the trick against the Port Ewen Merchants last night, striking out 15 and walking three in the seven inning contest at Dietz stadium.

The Kingston squad, meanwhile, clobbered Wayne Johnson for 11 hits, including a "4 for 4" performance by first baseman Len Whitten. Hitting the ball solidly on each trip to the plate, Whitten stroked two doubles and two singles.

Repeat in Open Is Major Test For Nicklaus

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Burly Jack Nicklaus, a cock-sure youngster with a veteran's savvy, begins his bid for a second straight U. S. Open Championship Thursday and another step in what seems an inevitable march to the pinnacle of golf.

Chances are he'll do it only over the imposing body of one Arnold Palmer.

Another talent-rich field, including Gary Player, Tony Lema, Gene Littler, Julius Boros and Sam Snead, is ready to meet the challenge of the 23-year-old Ohio husky in his attempt to repeat and the crusade of the 33-year-old Pennsylvania strong boy who bristles at suggestions he's on the way down.

The course, called The Country Club because tradition recognizes it as THE first of its kind in America, has come in for a lot of criticism of its condition but still is considered manageable enough for any of 20 or 30 players to win.

Nicklaus admittedly isn't playing as well as he did before he won last year's Open in a playoff with Palmer at Oakmont, Pa., or when he dethroned Arnie as Masters champion in April.

Palmer had been away from competition fighting physical and mental weariness for nearly a month before he returned last week and won the $100,000 Thunderbird classic. In practice rounds neither has looked as sharp as he might.

Hall Will Race At Pine Bowl

Gordy Hall of Kingston will appear in the novice sedans division at Sunday's opening of the Pine Bowl Speedway at Snyder's Corners, four miles south of Troy.

A top field of racing stars is scheduled to appear in the stock car division. Among the entries are Joe Messina, Harry Brazee, Hal McCarthy, Billy Boo, Harold Montayne of Kerhonkson and many others.

Gates open at 12:30 p. m. with the first racing scheduled at 2:30 p. m.

Another Son for O'Toole

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati pitcher Jim O'Toole, leading the major leagues with 11 victories added another hurler to his personnel staff Thursday when a nine-pound boy was born to Mrs. O'Toole. The O'Tool's have two sons and daughter.

Twaalfskill Has Unusual Tourney

The prize committee at The Twaalfskill Club must have been in a quandry following the conclusion of this week's Ladies Day handicap tournament.

Five players were tied for first place with net 36's in the 9-hole tournament. Three of the contestants had 14 handicap, one had 16 and the other 11.

Sharing the unprecedented five-way tie for first were: Mrs. Albert Flanagan, 50-14-36; Mrs. John Olivet, 50-14-36; Mrs. Reedy, 52-16-36; Mrs. George Schneider, 50-14-36; and Mrs. Harry Thayer, 47-11-36. Mrs. Thayer's 47 was low nine for the tournament.

Tennis Winner

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Tom Edlefsen of Southern California defeated Gerald Levin of Cornell University, 6-4, 6-4, Tuesday in the third round of the NCAA tennis championships at Princeton University.

CNYSA Champs in Exhibition

Sport Club Booters to Play Montreal

Albany Contest Set for June 30

Kingston Sport Club, the newly crowned repeat champions of the Central New York Soccer Association, will meet the Montreal Kickers in an exhibition game June 30 at the Albany Athletic Club field.

The game is part of a doubleheader being staged for the benefit of Ritchie Lake, goalkeeper of the Albany Sport Club who was injured in a game at Montreal while playing on a league select team.

Both Kingston and Montreal have donated their services for this game, with both clubs paying their own expenses.

Kingston, class team of the CNYSA which broke a 10-year monopoly held by the Albany Athletic Club, should more than hold its own against the Canadians. Manager Bob Graves has a well balanced, extremely fast team at his disposal.

Tripleheader Set

The remainder of the soccer program finds Albany Sport Club going against Utica in a 1 p. m. league game, while at 5 p. m. Albany Athletic Club, league runnerup, will play a selected team from the various clubs.

On Saturday, June 29, the soccer association will hold a dance starting at 9 p. m. at the headquarters of the Albany Athletic Club. The public is invited.

Kingston Sport Club will be awarded its championship trophy at the dinner. Other awards will be made to Albany Athletic Club for finishing second and a Sportsmanship Award to a club yet to be announced.

Charlestown Is Beaten, 8-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took the Charleston Indians one month and a six game series with Springfield to learn how to handle the Class AA Eastern League's top pitchers.

But it only took them a couple of hours Tuesday night to forget it all when the Indians came up against Binghamton's John O'Donoghue, who has beaten them four out of five times this season.

The Triplets whipped the Indians 8-1 after O'Donoghue recovered from a shaky start. He gave up six hits in the first four innings, but pitched one-hit ball over the last five to gain his sixth win against five losses.

Ron Overcash rapped a two run homer in the fourth to send the Trips ahead. His single led off a Triplet flurry of three runs in the eighth.

In other action, Springfield's righthander Tom Arruda gave up four hits as the Giants whipped the York White Roses 9-0 to move within two games of regaining first place. At Elmira, the Pioneers rapped three Reading pitchers for 24 hits as they trounced the Red Sox 14-3.

McKinley in Semi's

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Chuck McKinley, 22-year-old United States Davis Cup player, went into the semifinal round of the West of England Tennis Championship Thursday with a 6-2, 6-8, 6-1 victory over Ronald Barnes of Brazil.

Legion, Masons Record Wins In Kingston Babe Ruth League

Burdette Makes Good Debut With St. Louis

Veteran Righty Stops Mets, 6-2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lew Burdette, a reluctant Cinderella who beat the stroke of midnight by a couple of ticks, may find the glass slipper forced on his foot a perfect fit.

Acquired from Milwaukee just before Saturday night's trading deadline, Burdette went right to work for St. Louis and maintained the Cardinals' slim hold on the National League lead by checking the New York Mets 6-2 on six hits Tuesday night.

Burdette, a 36-year-old lefthander, was dispatched to the Cards along with his hefty salary for catcher Gene Oliver and pitcher Bob Sadowski. The two-time 20-game winner said frankly he would have preferred to stay in Milwaukee.

Tonic for Cards

Burdette, though reluctant to give up his long-time association with the Braves, may prove the added pitching help St. Louis needs in its quest for its first NL pennant since 1946.

Burdette responded immediately with a strong performance, blanking the Mets until Tim Harkness hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth. He struck out seven and walked only one while boosting his record to 7-5 with his fourth straight victory.

The triumph kept the Cardinals one-half game ahead of San Francisco. The Giants took over second place and dropped Los Angeles to third, 1½ games back, by thumping the Dodgers 9-3.

In other games, fourth-place Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 2-1, the Chicago Cubs downed Houston 3-1 and Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 7-5 in 10 innings.

Harvey Kuenn, replacing slumping Felipe Alou, got the Giants going against the Dodgers, lashing a leadoff single in a six-run third inning and winding up the uprising with a two-run single.

That provided more than enough margin for Jack.

That provided more than enough margin for Jack Sanford, who scattered 10 hits for his ninth victory in 14 decisions, and got some additional working room from a homer by batterymate Tom Haller. Bob Miller, 4-4, was the loser.

The Reds won in the ninth after Vada Pinson's bouncer skipped over the head of Phils' first baseman Roy Sievers for a triple. Two intentional walks followed before Johnny Edwards singled in the deciding run. That ruined a smart pitching performance by Ray Culp, 8-5, who allowed only six hits. Al Worthington, 2-1, got the victory.

Don Demeter homered for the Phils in the second inning, but the Reds tied the score in the sixth when Pinson walked, stole second and scored on Frank Robinson's single.

Matches '62 Total

Dick Ellsworth won his ninth game for the Cubs-matching his 1962 victory total—with Lindy McDaniel's relief help. Ellsworth, who has lost five, had a shutout until the ninth when the colts scored on Carl Warwick's single, a wild pitch, an error by Ellsworth and Howie Goss' grounder.

Ernie Banks drove in two Chicago runs with a single and sacrifice fly, and now has 99 RBI for his career.

Joe Torre got the job done for the Braves with a two-run homer in the 10th, following Dick Schofield's third error — the Pirates sixth of the game. Torre tripled to knock in a run and scored the tying tally in the eight. Bill Mazeroski homered for Pittsburgh.

Bob Shaw, 3-4, was the winner with Al McBean, 7-2, taking the loss.

Poor, Injured Yanks Demolish Nats, 10-5

Bridges Is Hurt In Play at First

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lo, the poor Yankees.

They can't seem to survive a game without someone getting banged up. They have a casualty list as long as the New York telephone book.

The only thing the battered Bombers can do is win.

They won their fifth in a row Tuesday night, with relief pitcher Marshall Bridges injured in the process, rapping Washington 10-5 with a 13-hit attack that included a pair of lusty home runs by Roger Maris.

The Yankee victory boosted their American League lead to a full game over the Chicago White Sox, who were clipped by the Minnesota Twins 5-3.

Cleveland's rampaging Indians took their sixth straight, beating the sagging Baltimore Orioles 7-3 behind Barry Latman's five-hit pitching; Boston's Earl Wilson blanked Detroit 9-0 on a four-hitter, spoiling Chuck Dressen's debut as Tiger manager; and the Los Angeles Angels got the tie-breaking run on a bases-loaded wild pitch in the 11th innning for a 2-1 decision over Kansas City.

Whitey Ford started for the Yanks and lasted through the sixth, long enough to gain his ninth victory in 12 decisions and run his lifetime mark against Washington to 33-5. Larry Osborne tagged the stylish southpaw for a two-run homer before Whitey was replaced by Bridges.

The left-handed reliever joined the limping list in the seventh when he was sent sprawling by Osborne in a play at first base. Bridges went to the sidelines with a slightly hurt left knee and Hal Reniff finished up.

Harmon Killebrew's 11th homer and run-producing singles by Vic Power, pitcher Jim Perry and Zoilo Versalles paced Minnesota to a 4-0 lead and the Twins held on against the White Sox. Perry gave up eight hits and five walks in seven innings but only two runs. J. C. Martin got the other Chicago run with a homer against Twin reliever Bill Dailey in the eighth. Joe Horlen was the loser.

Latman doled out just one Oriole hit through six innings, and struck out 11 over-all. The Tribe backed him with an early offense, scoring in each of the first five innings off loser Dave McNally and reliever Wes Stock for a 7-0 advantage.

Kirkland Is Hot

Willie Kirkland socked his sixth homer in the last 10 games for the Indians, who have zoomed up to fourth place by winning 16 of their last 18. The Orioles, meanwhile, have dropped 15 of 19.

Dressen, who replaced the fired Bob Scheffing as Detroit manager only hours before game time, watched his Tigers lose their eighth in a row. The Red Sox were stymied by rookie Bill Faul until the seventh inning when they broke a scoreless tie with three runs, then made it a rout with six in the eighth.

Ed Bressoud and Dick Stuart gave home run support to Wilson, now 6-5.

John Wyatt uncorked the wild pitch on his first delivery at Los Angeles, allowing Bob Perry to romp in with the 11th-inning run that enabled the Angels to edge the Athletics. Ken McBride, 7-6 and winner of four straight, went all the way for Los Angeles, giving up just three hits.

Daily Double Payoff $18.40

MONTICELLO, June 18 — Gene Daisey drove 4-1 shot Hava's Ava to a slow 2:11.1 victory in the pacing half of the daily double at Monticello Raceway tonight to clinch an $18.40 payoff, lowest on the board.

The winning combination was composed of numbers 1 and 3.

Even-money favorite Steadfast copped the trotting half of the DD in 2:07.3, behind a near wire-to-wire effort.

Hava's Ava returned mutuels of $10.00, $4.80 and $2.60, while Lovely Scott, driven by Joe Tomasino, was $7.20 and $4.00 for second. Mountain Jane paid back $3.60 to show.

The six-year-old Star's Pride gelding paid back mutuels of $4.30, $4.40 and $4.10.

Shapely Louise held on for second and a $7.40, $5.50 return while Carlos Hanover clicked for a $4.80 show payoff.

Chockoyotte Dream, a 26-1 outsider, came on in the final quarter mile to capture the feature $1,500 trot in 2:09.2.

The winner went the final quarter in 31.4 seconds and paid back mutuels payoffs of $55.00, $20.20 and $7.10 for winning her second race of the season at Monticello.

Wonder Bud, driven by Herve Filion, nosed out Tiny D. for second money and returned $5.80 and $3.80. Tiny D. was $5.70 for show.

Offers Pouring in For Bob Scheffing

DETROIT (AP) — The job offers started pouring in as soon as Bob Scheffing was ousted as manager of the Tigers.

"I've had several of them," said the dismissed skipper, grinning broadly as he stepped off a plane from Boston Tuesday night and embracing his wife, Mary.

Were there any to manage another club?

"I can't say," said Scheffing.

It may look as if he's lying down on the job when you see a driver practically horizontal in the sulky, trying to hold back his horse. "Stout in the Face" is the term applied to the trotter or pacer who has the uncontrollable instinct to race at his peak speed at all times. The trouble is that a horse that is allowed to race in this way may burn himself out before the mile is over, or go into a break. It is the duty of the driver to restrain his stout in the face charge with his whole body, if necessary, in order to save a burst of speed for the finish, or whenever it is most advantageous in order to win the race.

Many more interesting facts, figures and legends about pacers and trotters in MONTICELLO RACEWAY'S "HARNESS HORSE HANDBOOK." Write for it today, or better yet, pick one up at the track . . . they're free.

Clay Again Calls His Shot; Stops Cooper in 5th Round

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Marcellus Clay, the punching prophet, beat Britain's Henry Cooper in the predicted fifth round Tuesday night and silenced a horrified crowd in the fight that Liz Taylor stopped.

As the fifth round opened, a terrible cut over Cooper's left eye pumped blood over the Wembley Stadium ring.

Cass the Gas flashed remorseless lefts into the unseeing eye. Liz, there with Richard Burton, jumped out of her seat and started screaming "No, no, no."

The crowd, two minutes earlier confident that Clay was finished, took up the cry with a chant of "Stop it, stop it." They threw newspapers into the ring to show that Cooper was done.

Referee Tommy Little stepped in. The crowd sat in silence as he declared Clay the winner on a technical knockout after one minute 15 seconds of the fifth round—exactly 20 seconds earlier than Cassius had forecast.

Thus Clay had pulled off another prophecy. But he was dumped on the seat of his trunks before he did it.

Rough Start

The Louisville Lip, who entered the ring for the scheduled 10-round fight wearing a crown, looked anything but kingly in the first round when Cooper swarmed over him like a man fighting off bees.

But he straightened out in the second round and the outdoor crowd of 50,000 saw a fast, quick-punching heavyweight. The clown in him was gone when he got in trouble.

Cooper caught Clay flush on the chin with a solid left hook and Cass went down heavily for a count of three before the bell at the end of the fourth round. Cass admitted later in his dressing room that the punch numbed him but contended he would have been up without the bell.

Jack Nilon, one of world heavyweight champion Sonny Liston's managers, was in Clay's dressing room. When Cassius said he was ready to fight Liston "if the price is right," Nilon stepped up.

"We want you," he told Clay. "And the price will be right."

The cocky Cassius declared that "the ugly bear will fall in eight."

Twin Double Is Worth $7,453.60

MONTICELLO, June 18 — Driver Jim Romano drove 5-2 favorite Kenney Vic to a 2:07.4 victory in the eighth race at Monticello Raceway tonight to clinch a $7,453.60 twin double return on the 8-2 and 4-4 combination.

Kenny Vic, a five-year-old bay horse owned by Romano, nosed out Fireman in the race for the wire and paid back mutuels of $7.10, $4.40 and $3.40 to win.

Two lucky ticket holders shared in the payoff, second highest of the season at Monticello, which introduced the multiple wagering system in New York State at its opening three weeks ago. The gross pool was $17,358.00.

Chockoyotte Dream, a 26-1 longshot driven by Walter Dill, took the fifth race—opener on the TD selection pool—in 2:09.2 to eliminate 8,524 ticket right off the bat. Chockoyotte Dream, who paid $55.20 to win, was held by only 155 persons in the pool.

Music Box ($4.40) and Val Hadley ($14.20) took the sixth and seventh events to complete the middle numbers in the twin double pool.

Roberta MacDonald Winner in Contest

Roberta MacDonald, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacDonald of Kingston won third place in the Queens Court, Derby Queen Contest, at Albany last week.

Of an original group of 300 candidates ten were selected for the finals and Miss MacDonald placed third in the Queens Court for the Soap Box Derby scheduled in Albany, July 13. Winner of the Albany competition qualifies for the National race at Akron, Ohio later in the summer.

Asked what he liked best about Willie Shoemaker's riding, the one-time Arizona cowboy currently most concerned about the three-year-old, Candy Spots, replied, "Meeting him in the winner's circle, especially after a race for a big purse."

REALLY BIG RELIEF

Two Types of Season Tickets Available for Point Games

WEST POINT—Two types of season tickets will be available for Army football followers at Michie Stadium this fall. Sideline tickets for the five home contests will sell for $18 each. End zone season tickets will cost $12.

Colonel Emory S. Adams Jr., Director of Athletics at the United States Military Academy, said that purchasers of the $18 season tickets will be entitled to buy one ticket for the annual Army-Navy game in Philadelphia for each season ticket purchased. This privilege will not be available with the purchase of the $12 season ticket.

Army opens its 1963 season against Boston University at Michie Stadium on Saturday, September 21. Other home games include Cincinnati on September 28, Wake Forest on October 19, Washington State on October 26, and Utah on November 9.

In discussing the season ticket program, Colonel Adams emphasized that the $18 seats will be in the new east stands at Michie Stadium, will be the same for each game, and $18 season ticket holders will be given a special parking sticker.

Season tickets will be mailed 10 days before the first game (September 21). Orders should be sent to the Army Athletic Association, West Point, N. Y. Payment should be made by certified check or money order.

Tony Lema Set For Exhibition At Dutchess Club

Tony Lema, runner up to Jack Nicklaus, in the Masters Tournament at Augusta this year, has been signed to appear in an exhibition match at Dutchess Golf and Country Club on August 11 for the benefit of Vassar and St. Francis Hospitals.

William F. Bogle, one of the state's top amateur golfers, will serve as chairman of the Lema exhibition at the Dutchess course.

The event will be known as the Thunderbird Exhibition and is being sponsored by Howard Kohl of Kohl Motors.

Vassar and St. Francis Hospitals will share equally in the net proceeds of the exhibition match which should attract thousands of area golfers.

Cobb Plaque

DETROIT (NEA)—A memorial in the form of a bronze plaque will be placed at Tiger Stadium in Detroit to remind the citizens of Detroit of the exploits of Ty Cobb.

SOFT TOUCH—Tony Lema is banking on his putting touch, with or without body English, to win the United States Open championship at The Country Club in Brookline, Mass.

Wild Animals, Long Cocktails Plague (?) Golfers in Alaska

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Anchorage golfers—and there are more of them than there are Eskimos in this area—will spend all Saturday night playing their game and spend all the next day talking about it.

That's right. They'll play the game Saturday night, starting at 10 o'clock with a midnight break for food and drink.

Saturday will be the second day of summer when there is a midnight sun here as well as the more publicized spots such as Sweden and Finland. That provides the date for the annual Short Nighter tournament. Civilians will play at Forest Park while servicemen and their dependents will use the 18-hole Moose Run golf course at Fort Richardson.

Col. John (Jack) F. Prather says the military course is the second most northerly golf layout in the world with grass greens and that its 7,118 yards of narrow fairways are studded with pines and wild game. The only such course farther north is in Sweden.

"Darkness isn't our biggest problem," says Col. Prather. "It is dusk for only about 45 minutes when it is hard to see your ball. The rest of the time it is light. The biggest problems are wild animals and the long cocktail hour—from about 5 until you tee off at 10."

The Moose Run course is in use only about 4½ months each year.

"Christmas Eve in this area starts about 2:30 in the afternoon," the colonel explained. "It gets light here just before 10 a.m. on Dec. 24, it stays gray until about 2 p.m., and is dark again by 2:30. It gives Santa Claus a head start on his trip to other parts of the United States. The kids around here love it."

Old Pro Kuenn Aids Jack Sanford

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Thanks in part to the help of an old pro from the bench, San Francisco's Jack Sanford is off on what he hopes will be another 16-game pitching victory streak.

Sanford trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-3 Tuesday night—the day-late anniversary of the start of his 1962 win string that carried the Giants to the National League pennant.

The old pro was Harvey Kuenn, inserted into right field for slump-ridden Felipe Alou. The Giants scored six runs in a six-hit third inning outburst and it was singles by Kuenn that started and ended the damage.

The inning was the Giants' biggest since May 22 when a seven-run frame helped Sanford past Philadelphia in his last previous complete game.

A year ago Sanford was 7-6. Today he is 9-5. Can he win 16 straight again?

"I'm liable to do it again," he laughed, but added in the next breath: "Hey, don't print that—I might lose 16."

Tigers Go Bad, Manager Is Fired

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — There is a baseball axiom as old as the major leagues—when things go bad, the first move is fire the manager.

The Detroit Tigers are a team steeped in tradition. They also are more steeped in talent than most othr American League clubs.

So when things went bad, the Tigers resorted to the old theory. Instead of changing talent that wasn't producing, they changed the manager.

This is nothing new for the Tigers. They've had nine managers in 12 years, six in the last six years.

Charley Dressen, the new man who took over Tuesday, faces the same problems that ousted Bob Scheffing had and couldn't resolve. The key to the Tigers' troubles—ninth place when they were expected to contend for the pennant—was the failure of Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash.

Scheffing couldn't hit for them. And neither can Dressen, whose Brooklyn club won pennants when it had great talent and whose Cincinnati, Washington and Milwaukee clubs were also-rans when they didn't.

But instead of snapping at the numerous trade offers for Colavito or Cash the Tigers fired Scheffing Tuesday along with his coaching staff. Only last month general manager Jim Campbell said Scheffing's job was safe.

Dressen's debut was a losing one Tuesday night to the Red Sox in Boston 9-0 as Earl Wilson of the Sox pitched a 4-hitter. Stubby Overmire, Bob Swift and Pat Mullin, Dressen's three new coaches, also were on hand.

The car itself costs $1,595.00*.
The sunroof costs $90.00 more, and it's the most expensive extra that comes out of our factory.
You can't buy power steering, power brakes, power windows or power anything else.
They all come with the car.
Open it, and you get nothing but sky.
Close it, and you get nothing at all. (It's as airtight as the regular VW Sedan.)
You may get a little less roof for your $90.00, but you get a lot more sunshine and fresh air.

Wesleyan Guild Meets

MODENA—The final meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild, for the season, was held Tuesday evening in the home of Patricia Wager.

Ethel Hyatt was hostess, and Eileen Riley, leader of the program on the Bible parable of the Father and the Two Sons.

Other members attending were Alice Lofink, Roxcie Smith, Hilda Richardson, Muriel Ward, Marian Jensen, Marie Winters and Mary Watson.

Plans were discussed for the annual picnic for members and their families. Date and place will be announced later.

Members will serve a buffet supper Wednesday evening, July 10, 5:30 and 7:30 p. m. in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall,, in connection with the annual Modena Methodist Church fair, which has been arranged by members of the Woman's Society of the local church.

The next meeting of the Guild will be on Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, at 8 p. m. in the home of Evelyn Abbott.

Celia Tice will be hostess, and program leader will be Muriel Ward.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The public's interest in a new steel labor pact—when and if it's accepted by the 11 big companies and approved by the union locals—centers on these points:

1. Will the pact raise steel production costs and thus trigger further selective price increases?

2. Will any job security measures—such as long vacations every five years or other spread-the-work measures—set a pattern for other industries?

Security Main Aim

The first point is important to the public because price increases in a basic industry tend to percolate slowly through the economy. And if the cost of living rises, so does the demand for higher wages among workers far removed from the steel mills.

Job security is a prime aim of labor this year. And it is a prime concern of the public, too.

Steel isn't the only industry where mechanization and new production methods are producing more units of goods or services with fewer man hours of labor. The unions are fighting against the shrinkage of jobs—and the public in general is alarmed by rising rates of unemployment.

Management's aim, in other industries as well as steel, is to hold down or cut the cost of production. In many fields this has been rising fairly steadily. Of late costs often increase faster than prices can be raised, because of increased competition and surplus production facilities.

The result is the profit squeeze of which management complains—that is, a lower percentage of earnings to sales even when total profits rise. As the profit margins falls, so does the incentive to expand or to try new ventures.

Customers of steel have had their own stakes in the labor pact that labor and management negotiators were trying to hammer out. First was the fear of a strike if the talks fell through. This led to a flurry of ordering to build up inventories.

Prices Second Worry

Second worry of steel customers was the question of prices. Some products already are priced higher than at the start of the year, although a number have weakened.

The costs of a new labor pact will be weighed closely by the buyers of steel.

For the public, however, is the longer range questions: Will a new steel labor pact be within the range of rising productivity and thus noninflationary? Will any new schemes for saving present jobs and maybe creating new ones spread to other industries?

Strain on Ethics

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) Honesty and business success are "not always compatible," a University of Notre Dame professor, Dr. Herbert Johnston, told the National Council of Catholic Men's convention here. "It may be that, in this job or in that business, you simply cannot succeed and stay honest," he said.

Against Pulpit Pessimism

FORT MONROE, Va. (AP)—"If we had less pessimism in the pulpits and more faith in the pews, the church would advance faster," Methodist Bishop W. Angie Smith, of Oklahoma City, told a meeting here.

Coin Show Set This Weekend By Local Club

More than 30 cases of coins and medals wil lbe on display at the third annual coin show of the Mid-Hudson Numismatic Club of Ulster County at the Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday and Sunday.

One of the outstanding collectors of the Capital District will display several cases of rare U. S. patterns.

A superb collection of ancient Greek coins wil be dispayed by a prominent collector from Amsterdam.

A well known local collector will display a case of Biblical coins, also a display of coins through the centuries, with coins from every century from 500 B. C. There will be displays of odd and curious money from collections of well known New Jersey numismatists. In addition, there will be displays of Spanish American silver, medals, U. S. coins, Ancient Greek and Roman coins.

The auction will be conducted by the noted upstate auctioneer, Dave Nethaway. Many key U. S. coins and prize Ancient Greek and Biblical coins will be offered.

There will be a continuous blackboard auction.

Thirty Bourse tables with a great variety of material for collectors, manned by Bourse dealers from all over the East, will be there. This will allow the non-collectors to bring in their coins for appraisal or evaluation.

There will be awards for best displays in each class and a special statuette for best in show.

Po'keepsie Driver Fined, Two Hurt

A driver was charged with a stop-sign violation after a two-car mishap Tuesday at Downs Street and South Manor Avenue in which two persons were injured.

A police report at 5 p. m. said the one car was driven by Isidor O. Feldstein., 72, of 4 Eastman Terrace, Poughkeepsie. He was charged by the other driver, Gerard Brennan, 25, of 9 Cross Street, with a stop-sign violation, and was fined $10 in city court today.

Joan Marie Brennan, 23, of 9 Cross Street, suffered leg and arm njuries, and Michelle Brennan, 2½ years old, of the same address, suffered apparent undetermined injuries. They were taken to the Benedictine Hospital n a Doctors' ambulance.

Officers Richard Scherer and Curtis VanDemark investigated.

Will Sell Herd

Scarcity of "cow men" has prompted Homestead Farms Inc., Stormville, Dutchess County to decide to sell its 109-head herd of registered Holstein-Friesian cattle. Homestead at present has 61 cows of milking age, with 20 bred heifers, 11 open heifers, 15 fall and winter calves and one herd sire. The farm dates back to 1743.

HEADS PETROLEUM COUNCIL — Henry Halterman, Gulf area manager with offices in Kingston, has been elected chairman of Ulster County Petroleum Council. He will direct industry programs which provide speakers, teaching aids and films. Special projects include the annual "Service Station of the Year" contest to encourage better appearance of stations.

Nine Candidates Vie for Vacant School Board Seat

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Robert W. Hynes today emerged triumphant over two salesmen, an office manager, a fourth-grade teacher, an engineer, a film worker, the dean of a local business school and a housewife.

His prize?

Hynes, a high school social studies teacher, won a majority on the third ballot with 204 votes.

The voting started Tuesday night. Before it was over, almost half the people in the town hall had gone home.

"There has been no occasion within my memory when nine candidates were nominated for one vacant position in a Board of Education", remarked Lester B. Foreman, head of the school district.

The nine candidates represented a total of 25 children, seven below kindergarten age.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit-taking in motors turned a small stock market advantage into a mixed pattern early this afternoon.

Trading was moderately active. Changes of most key issues were fractional.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 273.0 with industrials up .7, rails up .3 and utilities unchanged.

Up half a point or so were Polaroid, Du Pont, General Electric and U.S. Gypsum.

American Telephone picked up a minor fraction.

Corporate and government bonds were mixed.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 52 Main Street, Matthew F. Hasbrouck Jr., manager.

Attorney and Bank Handling Lowe Affairs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A lawyer and a bank are assuming responsibility for the personal and financial affairs of ailing actor Edmund Lowe, 73.

Superior Court Judge Clyde C. Triplett named attorney Donald C. Kimber conservator of Lowe's person Tuesday and appointed the Bank of America conservator of his estate.

Attorney Vernon Bettin presented the petition which said Lowe was ill and not able to take care of his own affairs.

Will Wed Burton, Aide to Liz Says

LONDON (AP)—A spokesman for actress Elizabeth Taylor confirmed today that she plans to marry actor Richard Burton.

"I've just talked to Elizabeth," said her secretary, Richard Hanley, "and she says it's true—but she doesn't want to say any more than that."

He said he did not know when the wedding would take place.

Miss Taylor and Burton are still married, she to American singer Eddie Fisher and Burton to Sybil Williams Burton. Mrs. Burton has been in New York since she separated from the actor.

Misss Taylor and Burton are presently living in London—in separate suites at the Dorchester Hotel.

Since they began filming together in Italy in the spring of 1962 on the spectacular, "Cleopatra", they have been inseparable companions.

Burton is 37, Elizabeth 31.

There have been dozens of rumors that one day they would wed, and Miss Taylor's confirmation of this came as no surprise to many show business people here.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

TROUBLE?: New storm signals were raised today in the path of the administration's $4.5-billion foreign aid program.

They took the form of a House vote Tuesday on an amendment to the annual State Department appropriation bill which would have sharply cut the U. S. contribution to the United Nations.

It took a speech by Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., to save the $81,305,000 allotment from a cut of almost 20 per cent. After McCormack, who seldom addresses the House, argued the reduction would play into the hands of the Soviet Union, the House defeated the proposed cut by a seven-vote margin, 121 to 114.

The result left no doubt that the House is in a mood to slash deeply any spending dealing with foreign assistance or foreign activities.

HI, NEIGHBORS: The Soviet Union has received permission to build a $2-million embassy in an exclusive section of the Chevy Chase residential area in northwest Washington.

The neighbors were not happy, but the District Board of Zoning Adjustment brushed off their objections that the embassy would draw sightseeing buses, anti-Communist pickets and streams of cars.

The present embassy is in a busy downtown area about four blocks from the White House.

CUBA: The State Department said Tuesday a few hundred Soviet troops have left Cuba since February but that there's been no recent major reduction in the Soviet military force there. The United States estimates there are still about 11,000 to 12,000 Soviet troops in Cuba, about 10,000 less than peak strength during last fall's Cuban crisis.

RETURN TRIP: The painting, Whistler's Mother, a hit recently in Atlanta, Ga., is going to make a return engagement to the United States.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., announced Tuesday that the painting will help St. Louis celebrate the city's 200th anniversary next spring.

Hiltz Heads D&H

NEW YORK (AP) — John P. Hiltz Jr., president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, has replaced William White, the line's chairman, as chief executive officer.

White is relinquishing his chief executive duties to become chairman and chief executive officer of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Co. He will continue as president and chief executive officer of the Delaware & Hudson Co., parent of the D&H.

The executive changes and a move of the executive offices of the D&H from New York City to Albany Sept. 1 were announced Tuesday.

Thinks Kennedy Trifle Late on Racial Issues

CLINTON, N. Y. (AP) — The top official among New York State Presbyterians says Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was impatient over prejudice against Roman Catholics when his brother was a presidential candidate but now is patient with discrimination against Negroes.

The criticism came from the Rev. Dr. W. Eugene Houston of New York City, who is retiring as moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of New York.

He spoke at the opening session Tuesday of the Synod's three-day annual meeting on the Hamilton College campus.

Dr. Houston said:

"I recall reports of Bobby Kennedy all but weeping in Ohio over the prejudice against a Roman Catholic in the White House. He was most impatient then. But political expedience calls for patience now, even when Negroes are slammed down by high pressure losses, brutally murdered and subjected to a savagery in the name of law which can only be paralleled behind the Iron Curtain."

Dr. Houston said also that, although he voted for President Kennedy, he considered the President's moves against segregation "a trifle late."

Today, Herman W. King of the committee on evangelism recommended that congregations give their pastors leaves of absences with full support so that the pastors could study.

This would assure the best ministerial gudiance, King said in a prepared speech.

Hunt Circus Is To Play Kingston On Annual Visit

Hunt Brothers Circus will make its annual visit to Kingston, it has been announced.

The show is to play at Dietz Stadium grounds on Monday, Aug. 12.

This was announced today by Harry Hunt, one of the brothers, from Burlington, N. J., headquarters for the Hunt show.

He said, "We'll make our annual visit to Dad's old home town as was the custom prior to his death.

"We'll arrive in Kingston after a tour of the New England States, and stay over a weekend before heading for the South."

Charles T. Hunt, who died several years ago, organized his first circus here more than 70 years ago. It is one of the best known showing under the Big Top today.

The circus will pull into the Dietz grounds on Sunday, Aug. 11, and give afternoon and night performances the next day.

Comprehensive

out and of such size as to be in harmony with the development pattern of the neighboring properties; that the proposed streets shall compose a convenient system conforming to the official map, and shall be properly related to the proposals shown on such portions of the Master Plan as may be in existence at any time, and shall be of such width, grade and location as to accommodate the prospective traffic, to afford adequate light and air, to facilitate fire protection, and to provide access of fire-fighting equipment to buildings; and that proper provision shall be made for open spaces for parks and playgrounds."

Vital Definitions

The two definitions considered important were: (1) "subdivider": It means any person, firm, corporation, partnership or association, who shall lay out for the purpose of sale or development, any subdivision or part thereof, as defined herein, either for himself or for others: and (2) "Subdivision:" means the divisions of any parcel of land into two or more lots, plots, sites, or other divisions of land for the purpose, whether immediate, or future, of transfer of ownership or building development in such a way as to create one or more new streets, or highways, and shall include resubdivision."

Among changes in plans for one downtown area, as recommended by the neighborhood committee, was that no provision be made in one section for large multiple-dwelling structures where the area is largely composed of one and two-family houses. The committee also listed suggestions for park and industrial development. Ten neighborhood sections are included in the plan.

Ward B. Tongue, urban renewal director, said adoption of the plan was an important "forward step" in city planning and urban renewal. It was one of seven requirements essential to providing a workable program, and it permits official review by the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the downtown urban renewal project, he said.

Steel Holding Misplaced In This Growth Portfolio

(Q) "I own Franklin Life, Continental Assurance, Philadelphia Life, and Travelers Insurance. In addition I have American Telephone, Avco, Bristol-Myers, Georgia Pacific, I.B.M., Reynolds Tobacco, and U. S. Steel. I would appreciate any suggestions on these holdings."

—H. P.

(A) You have a fine list which requires very little comment. If you selected these stocks yourself, I congratulate you. If you had help, your advisor should be commended.

I like the life insurance group and believe that the better issues—such as those you own—will prove quite profitable if held over a period of time.

Your other stocks are sound, although I do not believe that U. S. Steel belongs on a list such as yours, where the objective is obviously growth. Big Steel has many problems to face, including a drop in steel demand and a serious profits squeeze.

I would switch steel into American Electric Power, a strong company in a group where you have no representation.

(Q) "Some time ago, a friend advised me to invest in Tidewater Oil in the expectation of a merger. At this writing my shares are down in price, and I have never received a cash dividend. Should I hold this stock or sell and take my punishment? I should like to get some return on my money, since I worked pretty hard to get it."

—H. F.

(A) I can see little attraction in Tidewater for a person in your circumstances.

The possibility does exist, as your friend pointed out, that Tidewater will some day merge with other Getty companies to form a new oil empire. Even if this occurs, there is no guaranty that you would fare any better than if you were in an already-established sound situation.

I believe you would be better off holding Cities Service, yielding a well-secured 3.9 per cent.

School Officials

able distance by reason of his choice,'" Manch said.

Other school authorities, in comments to reporters, said compliance with the Allen decision would erquire re-shuffling of pupils and additional expenditures.

Robert Bickel, a member of the Rochester School Board, said, "it obviously will mean a redistribution of pupils. It will present considerable change in the way we do things now. It is too early to say how we will accomplish it."

Expect to Comply

In Niagara Falls, school board officials said they had not received the order but expected to comply with it.

However, Richard C. Doherty, president of the Niagara Falls board, expressed concern over the expense involved.

"The real question," he said, is whether it is possible to remedy racial imbalance. Redistricting has it limits and it may be necessary to transport pupils by bus to correct the situation. I'm talking about considerable expense."

Doherty said a loss of industry in recent years has hampered the city's efforts to meet its school expenses.

In Lackawanna, Assist. School Supt. James Downey said he was sure "'appropriate action will be taken," in his community as a result of the commissioner's directive.

Plans on Study

Dr. John W. Park, Albany school superintendent, said "of course will go along with the commissioner. . .but I've got to study the commissioner's ruling.

Allen defined a racially imbalanced school as "one having 50 per cent or more Negroes enrolled."

About 60 schools outside of New York City with its large Negro population, were reported to be racially imbalanced under those terms.

In New York, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People expressed approval of the decision. Robert L. Carter, general counsel, urged local school boards to take "immediate steps" to comply with the directive.

It was Carter who presented to Allen the NAACP protest that the Woodfield Road School in Malverne had become 75 per cent Negro.

Carter said Tuesday he did not think it would be possible to desegregate completely schools in areas such as Harlem. But, he added, the city board of education has before it numerous suggestions for changes in schools in other areas of the city.

Drivers Fined

Two drivers charged with speeding were fined in city court today. C. A. Thomas Jr., 16, of 235 Elmendorf Street, paid $25, and Christos Staurinov, 56, of Pardee's Trailer Camp, paid $15. Mary E. Smith, 24, of Route 3, Box 310, Saugerties, charged with a traffic light violation, was fined $10.

35 Taxpayers Appear

Too Much for TV Boys

The Soviet Union is accustomed to celebrating the return of male cosmonauts—but the flight of the first woman clearly has caught the imagination of the Soviet people.

Excited broadcasters could hardly control their voices as they described the event.

"Her eyes are like cornflowers," said a television announcer as he ran a film of Valentina in her last loops around the globe.

Announcement of their return came after a period of silence on the air that sparked rumors that they had landed.

Congress Gives

nation by shops, stores, restaurants and lunch counters would apply to those establishments which provide services to interstate travelers to a substantial degree, those offering goods which, in substantial portion, have moved in interstate commerce, and establishments which otherwise substantially affect interstate travel or the interstate movement of goods in commerce.

More Teeth Needed

The legislation offered by the administration says that discrimination in access to accommodations provided for the public comes within the scope not only of the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution but also the 14th Amendment which prohibits racial or religious discrimination.

Kennedy said the state and local approach and voluntary efforts, have been tried in ending discrimination of the type dealt with in this key section of his program.

"But these approaches," he said, "are insufficient to prevent the free flow of commerce from being arbitrarily and inefficiently restrained and distorted by discrimination."

Broad Solution Vital

Kennedy said "an explosive national problem cannot wait city-by-city solutions" and federal action is needed to "open doors in every part of the country which never should have been closed."

The special message discussed at length the employment problms of Negroes, which Kennedy said are twice as burdensome as those facing the working force as a whole.

In this connection, he proposed addditional funds—not specified—to broaden the federal manpower development and training program, more money to finance his proposed youth employment opportunities program, and further appropriations for vocational education.

Program Not Cheap

A price tag of something like a billion dollars was put on that program Tuesday by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

Kennedy gave no breakdown on funds required for various programs in the jobs area but said that, over-all, an additional $400 million would be needed for the 1964 fiscal year that begins July 1.

To combat discrimination in employment, Kennedy proposed that the committee on equal employment opportunity, headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, be given permanent powers. And he said he was renewing earlier support "of pending federal fair employment practices legislation, applicable to both employers and unions."

Brooklyn Woman Is Hit by Car, Serious

A 71-year-old Brooklyn woman was seriously injured at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday when she was hit by an automobile as she walked along the Mettacahonts Road, near Ellenville.

State Trooper William Brown said Ida Heller, of Brooklyn, was admitted to the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, suffering a fractured pelvis and possible fractures of the skull and right hand.

Troopers reported Ruth Ginacchio, 32, of Woodhaven, was driving east on Mettacahonts Road when she turned to the center of the highway to pass some pedestrians. Trooper Brown said the Brooklyn woman apparently stepped into the path of the vehicle and was hit.

Fleischmanns Man

Carlow and John Takach, 58, owner of the hotel, were using gasoline to try to kill ants in the Alpine Hotel's swimming pool, state police said.

Takach was described as in good condition at the hospital. He suffered less serious burns, troopers said.

The men flooded a pit that houses pumping machinery for the pool. They were trying to kill ants that had colonized in the pit over the winter.

While Carlow was in the pit, Takach threw the switch that controls the pump's electric motors, and a spark apparently ignited the gasoline, police said.

Local Artists Moving Around

Joan Pond, popular enameling teacher and her sister, Olga Van Kirk, who recently returned from Florida and Mexico, will be delegates of the Miami Mineralogical and Lapidary Guild at the Eastern Federation Convention at Lake Placid, Fla.

While in Florida, Mrs. Pond and her sister were judges of jewelry in the Annual Rock-O-Ree. Olga Van Kirk has long been a jewelry instructor in Dade County, Florida, and has had numerous one man shows and has won many awards for her modern and contemporary jewelry.

After the convention, they will attend the annual Arts and Crafts Workshop at Willimantic State College in Connecticut to bring back the latest trends in the craft field to Mrs. Pond's students in her enameling and jewelry classes.

New classes will start the first week in July at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen under the supervision of Onteora Central School. Anyone desiring to register for these classes should call or see Mrs. Wangler at the Guild Shop.

Rotary Honors Annette Dietz

Miss Annette Dietz was honored as Artist of the Month by the Woodstock Rotary Club and an original drawing of the old covered bridge at Mt. Marion by Miss Dietz was on the cover of th "Palette", the Rotary publication.

Miss Dietz, who taught art in the New York City school system for many years, is an accomplished landscape artist and has had exhibits at the Queensborough Art Society in Jamaica, L. I.; Mineola Art League of Nassau County, Hempstead; Independent Artists at Grand Central Palace, New York City, and the Woodstock Gallery. Her paintings are now on exhibition at her studio which is located on Plochman Lane in Woodstock.

Miss Dietz was born in New York City and was educated in the New York city schools and Pratt Institute. She is now a permanent resident of Woodstock and is very active in church and civic organizations.

Response Good For Blood Bank

Twenty-five residents of Woodstock township responded to the recent call for blood donors to replenish the dwindling blood bank. The Public Health Nursing Committee is grateful for this wonderful response, as all residents of the township should be, a committee statement said today.

The statement added that none of us know when we may need blood to save the life of a loved one. This is of vital importance to the community and all residents are entitled to this blood and should not hesitate to ask for it.

The blood donors included: the Rev. and Mrs. James Cook, Wayne Underhill, Wayne Underhill Jr., Mrs. Adolph Heckeroth, Mrs. Alvin Moscowitz, Mrs. James Kinns, Mrs. Chrystal Vredenberg, Mrs. John, Casey Mrs. Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith, Arthur Smith, William Beck, John Payne, Robert Rifenbary, Millert Borman, William Ward, Stewart DeWitt, Madge Moseman, F. William Sheehan, Andrew Shekitka, Theodore Sturgeon, William Baldinger, Paul Ottoson.

The committee wishes to thank Dr. Kenneth M. Bremer for again volunteering his services. He was in constant attendance during the entire drawing, assisted by a competent staff of nurses and technicians and the nurses committee. A vote of thanks was given the Rev. Lloyd Uyeki of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church in Woodstock for granting use of the parish hall with its modern facilities. Members of the nursing committee served a delicious supper to all present.

Gladstone Sets Gallery Opener

Gladstone Galleries, on lower Byrdcliffe Road, Woodstock, announces the opening of the season's exhibits with a large Group Show on Saturday, June 22. The gallery will again show a wide range of the work of contemporary painters and sculptors.

The opening exhibit will be a combined showing of oils, water colors and sculpture by all of the twenty-two artists on the gallery roster. Included in this show are a number of prize-winning paintings, just arrived in Woodstock, from national and regional exhibits.

The program of Gladstone Galleries for the season announces a full schedule of one-man shows, with continued group showings of works of the gallery artists. Featured will be paintings by Harrison Covington, Julio de Diego, Diana Sinclair Gladstone, Bruce Gregory, William W. Harris,, Agnes Hart, Lillian Keyes, Grace Krupenye, Robert Larsen, Hilton Leech, Irving Lehman, Robert McFarland, Morris Mitchell, Lynfield Ott, Geri Pine, Frank Rampolla, Elden Rowland, Craig Rubadoux, Frances Stein, Sabina Teichman, Loran Wilford; also sculpture by Lehman and Nat Werner.

The spacious galleries, under the direction of Berta Gadstone, are expected to attract many visitors this year, as they did in previous years.

Mrs. Longendyke Picks Chairmen

Mrs. Monroe Longendyke, Collection Center chairman of the Woodstock Library Fair, has announced the appointment of her co-chairmen, Margaret Antenucci and Elizabeth Clough. They are being assisted by William Blelock and Robert Carlson.

Mrs. Longendyke stated that the Collection Center is particularly in need of donations of china, antiques and used clothing in good condition. The center which is located at the rear of the library is open Monday, Tuesday and Saturday from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. Those who cannot bring their donations may call the center and arrangements will be made for picking them up.

"Now is the time for Woodstock residents to search their attics, barns and basements for suitable Fair material," said Mrs. Longendyke. "And at the same time combine civic duty with a household responsibility."

Theo Rowe, coordinating chairman, announced the acceptance of the following chairmen: Norma Drake, aprons; Mrs. John Pike, art supplies; Mari Bollman, badges; Mrs. Gus Shader, books; Judy Sheldon, china, glass, antiques;

14 Stage Sit In Protest, Bring TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Fourteen persons, predominantly Negro, staged a sit-in demonstration Tuesday night and early today in the Manhattan offices of the State Commission for Human Rights. They said they were protesting alleged discrimination by the Board of Education against two Brooklyn children because of their color.

A spokesman for the commission said the protest concerned efforts of two Negro children to enroll in high schoools of their choice outside their school district in Brooklyn.

The spokesman said the demonstators started the sit-in about 5:30 p.m. They brought a television set with them.

Commission Chairman George H. Fowler had left the office, but returned about 8:30 p.m. after being told by telephone of the demonstration.

Fowler, a Negro, ordered food to be brought to the sit-ins. He turned on the air conditioner, and discussed the matter with demonstartors for nearly two hours.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisments from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Public Meeting Slated Tonight On New Bond Vote

An informational meeting to explain the $2,875,000 school bond issue of Saugerties Central School District prior to voting on the matter June 26, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at Saugerties High School auditorium.

Balloting on the bond issue will be held next Wednesday at Main Street School, from 12 noon to 9 p. m.

The bond issue would provide funds for a 21-room elementary school at the Winston Farm site donated by Ferdinand Schaller; a five-room addition to Mt. Marion School, and a 26-room addition to the junior-senior high school.

Stuart Buchan, publicity chairman for the Board of Education, announced that the Jaycees and Jayncees will provide transportation for persons needing rides to the Main Street School where voting will take place on the bond issue for additional school facilities.

Fireworks Finale Slated for Local Events on July 4

Saugerties Jaycees have booked the Legion Fireworks Co. of Beacon to provide a fireworks display unmatched by any previous display in this area. Cantine's field will be the scene of a battlefield of exploding bombshells, artillery shots, exciting breaks and flash salutes and much more. More than 6000 explosions will see this year's Saugerties Annual Fourth of July celebration to a gala finale. This year, emphasis will be on the aerial display with less ground sets than in the past. Also this year's fireworks director Bert Hall pointed out that parking facilities for the spectators will include two parking fields.

These will include Knaust's Field which will have its entrance off Market Street and an additional field will be available directly south of the high school which will have its entrance off Washington Avenue.

Preceding the fireworks display, the Saugerties Jaycees have planned some fine musical entertainment, featuring the Blue Grass Cutups. This group, headed by Bill Dillon, features some of the finest country style and folk music in the area. They will get underway at 6:30 p. m.

Little Gardens Flower Show Winners Listed

Winners of the annual flower show of Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held this weekend at Saugerties Reformed Church were announced today. The theme was, Our Bird Friends.

The committee in charge included: chairman, Mrs. David Jones; entry, Miss Jane Ziegler; staging, Mrs. Daniel Lamb and Mrs. Arthur Lamb Jr.; reception, Mrs. Arthur Lamb Sr.; tea table, Mrs. John Althiser; ways and means, Mrs. Richard Smith; and dismantling, Mrs. George Sawutz.

Mrs. Robert Cart received an award of distinction in the dried arrangement class and Mrs. Herman Knaust received an award of merit in horticulture. Mrs. Walter Johnson received the Sparrow Award which was judged by popular vote.

In the junior organizations category, Homes and Feeders for Our Birds, special awards were given to Girl Scout Troop 104 and to Miss Wendy Diaz. Also, special awards went to Eugene Davis and to the Cellar Shop.

National accredited judges for the show were Mrs. Herbert Decker, Rhinebeck; Mrs. Herman Mandell and Mrs. Arthur Traver, Upper Red Hook.

Miss Saugerties Pageant Outlined To Vols Auxiliary

The Miss Saugerties Pageant was explained to members of Glasco Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary at a recent meeting held at the firehall.

Miss Janet Schlenker of West Camp, Miss Saugerties of 1963 was introduced to the group by Mrs. Geraldine M. Spada. Both gave brief informative talks concerning the annual pageant. This year's pageant will be held in Saugerties High School auditorium on Saturday, Aug. 24.

It was announced the auxiliary will participate in the July 4 parade in Saugerties. All members will assemble at the firehouse and proceed to the parade in a group.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rosemarie Sasso, Mrs. Florence Snyder, Mrs. Spada and Mrs. Evelyn Tiano. Mrs. Rose Amato presided at the meeting.

The next meeting will be held September 10.

Architect Plans For New Schools Given Approval

Preliminary drawings for the new elementary school, the addition to the Mt. Marion School and Saugerties High School, prepared by architect Albert Edward Milliken of Kingston, have been approved by the Division of Buildings and Grounds of the State Education Department, it was announced today.

Mr. Milliken is a graduate of Cornell University College of Architecture. Upon graduation he worked with architectural firms in the New York City area. In 1930 he became senior architect with the New York State Division of Architecture, working on state institutions such as hospitals, schools and armories.

SAUGERTIES 9

In discussing plans for Saugerties Central School District facilities, Milliken stated:

"It is my sincere belief that the architect, in designing a school, should endeavor to produce a building which is not costly to build and maintain, but will provide quality construction and a pleasing appearance.

"One of the major means of keeping the cost down is to have a simple, straight-forward plan. The most economical shape for enclosing space is a square, but it obvious that requirements for windows in classrooms, as well as other factors, make a square shape impossible. The next best shape is a rectangle, and therefore we plan combinations of this shape.

"By constructing a two-story building it is possible to reduce the amount of foundation wall and roof by one-half. As the greatest heat loss is through the roof, this provides considerable saving. The added cost of stairwells is offset by the saving in foundations. Heating becomes more efficient with shorter piping runs.

"I prefer to use tried materials such as block and brick. Concrete is the standard material for foundations and floors. Walls will be constructed of blocks with common brick facing. At the Mt. Marion School and high school, the existing brick would be matched as closely as possible. I plan to use a Douglas Pink brick in the new elementary school, with entrances and other features in contrasting white concrete block or cast stone.

"Ceilings will be of the suspension type, acoustical panels held in a metal frame, which is both attractive and economical. Terrazo will be used in the corridors, and the classroom floor covering will be vinyl-asbestos tile.

"Painted concrete block walls will add a variety of color and make the rooms bright and attractive. Reduction of the window area to the minimum acceptable under State Education Department regulations should result in a comfortable environment and less heat loss. We plan to provide a substantial, attractive building at a reasonable cost."

A full schedule of events is planned in June for Brownies of Troop 154, Saturday at 10 a. m. they will meet at Saugerties Methodist Church and from there go to Seamon Park for a meeting scheduled to end at noon.

Tuesday the Brownies will meet at Seamon Park from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. for a combined meeting with Brownie Troops 5 of Barclay Heights, 109 of Hill Street, 45 of Mt. Marion, and 133 of Malden. There will be approximately 110 Brownies present.

All nine-year-old Brownies of Troop 154 will become Junior Girl Scouts at an impressive ceremony to be held on Friday night, June 28. It will commence with a family picnic supper at 6:30 p. m. at Seamon Park. In case of rain, it will be held at Saugerties Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m., omitting the picnic supper.

Brownies of Troop 154 who will fly-up to Junior Girl Scouts at this ceremony are: Nancy Harkins, Jackie Sanford, Nancy Freleigh, Janice Welton, Cindy Geuss, Marcia Goble, Maryann Johnson, Patty Moser, Kathy Brice, Anita Smith, Ellen Schumacher and Jane Stegmayer.

Troop 154 reports they spent a weekend at Camp Wendy, the established camp of Ulster County Council Girl Scouts at Wallkill.

Those who attended were; Susan Harkins, Nancy Harkins, Jackie Sanford, Allison Kolb, Nancy Freligh, Karen Snyder, Janice Welton, Lynn Beck, Cindy Geuss, Marcia Goble, Inez Heidhausen, Debbie Howard, Maryann Johnson, Meg Kiernan, Donna Martino, Patty Moser, Linda Myers, Inez Steele, Kathy Brice, Anita Smith, Ellen Schumacher, Gail Olsen, Cindy Kurtz, Lauri Martino, and Debbie Myers.

To Investigate Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — George P. Larrick, commissioner of food and drugs, annnounced today appointment of a new advisory commtttee on investigational drugs.

Dr. Walter Modell of the Department of Pharmacology at Cornell University Medical School, New York, is chairman of the eight-member committee, which has already held its first meeting.

Dr. Sidney Merlis of Central Islip Hospital, N.Y., and Dr. Harold Hodge of the Department of Pharmacology at the University of Rochester, N.Y.

Rocky's Cousin Designated for Manhattan Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard S. Aldrich, a cousin of Gov. Rockefeller, has been designated as the Republican organization's choice to run for city councilman-at-large in Manhattan.

Two other candidates have announced they will fight for the nomination in the party primary Sept. 5.

The nominee is almost certain of election because of a clause in the new city charter designed to provide greater minority representation in the overwhelmingly Democratic City Council.

Aldrich won the designation by an overwhelming vote Tuesday night at a meeting of the New York County (Manhattan) Republican Committee.

Aldrich, a business executive who ran unsuccessfully last year as the Republican candidate for Congress in the 19th District in Manhattan, said after his designation for councilman that he will not ask the governor to campaign for him in the primary contest that appeared to be shaping up. He said the same thing about the November general election.

Rockefeller recently denied a charge that he was seeking the nomination for Aldrich.

Children, Parents Of Deceased Vets To Receive More

As a result of recently enacted legislation, many children and dependent parents of deceased veterans receiving month dependency and indemnity compensation payments will receive an increase of about 10 per cent in their monthly checks, according to Charles Culver, State Veteran Counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency.

Culver and Tyler emphasized that the new legislation is no way affects payments to dependent widows. Payments to widows are adjusted as basic active service pay rates are increased.

The increased payments to children and dependent parents will be automatic and included in the July checks mailed to beneficiaries about Aug. 1. "Under the provisions of the new legislation two children currently receiving indemnity and compensation checks amounting to $100 per month, will receive $110 equally divided. Three children now receiving $130 per month will receive $143 per month equally divided. If there are more than three children, each additional child now receiving $25 per month will receive $28 per month," Culver and Tyler said.

In the case of dependent parents living together with an annual income of less than $1,000 their present payment of $50 each will be increased to $55 under the new law, they concluded.

Further information concerning dependency and indemnity compensation payments may be obtained by contacting Culver or Tyler, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 9 to 5.

Station to Be Unmanned

Hyde Park's state police substation will be unmanned from 11 p. m. to 6:30 a. m. in order to assign another trooper to highway patrol, it was made known Tuesday by Lt. Samuel Crodelle, Troop K Zone commander. The lieutenant said that all calls made to the Hyde Park sub-station between those hours will be transferred to area sub-stations. Lt. Crodelle said that although only one trooper will be at the Hyde Park station days, there will be a patrol working in the Hyde Park area 24 hours daily.

8th Dutchess Fatality

Dutchess County chalked up its eighth traffic fatality of 1963 last night when William A. Chaumont, 21, of Haviland Road, Town of Hyde Park, died at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie. Chaumont was injured Sunday night when his car hit a utility pole on Salt Point Road.

Hopeful Rutland Section Can Be Opened Shortly

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—Gov. Phillip H. Hoff says he hopes that a substantial part of the now closed Rutland Railroad can be open "within two months."

Hoff and officials of the line, idle since September 1961, said Tuesday that the way has finally been cleared for immediate abandonment of operations.

This would pave the way for the state plans to purchase the Rutland's 331 miles of right of way and track for $2.7 million and to induce other railroads to take over segments of the line.

Hoff said he was "hopeful that an agreement can be reached within two weeks for other railroads to operate some portions of the line. And we hope that within two months, a substantial part of the line can be in operation."

The railroad has been seeking abandonment since a strike halted operations. The railroad brotherhoods have been fighting the move in the courts.

Hoff said lines which have expressed an interest in taking over parts in the Rutland, either on a purchase or lease basis, include the Boston & Maine, Delaware & Hudson and Central Vermont.

Girl Is Drowned At Greene Resort

GREENVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Joann Dimino, 5, of Brooklyn, was drowned Tuesday night in the swimming pool of a resort near this Greene County community.

State Police said an employe of the Pine Springs Vacation Resort told them he saw the girl standing by the pool when he went to clean it. He said he told her to leave the area.

He went to nearby pump house and when he returned he discovered the girl's body in the bottom of the pool, troopers said.

The coroner issued a verdict of accidental death by drowning.

The child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dimino.

Denies School Report

A State Education Department report that there is a school in the City of Poughkeepsie with a Negro enrollment exceeding 50 per cent has been contradicted by School Superintendent Edwin L. Hunger. Dr. Hunger said Tuesday that two years ago at the request of State Education Commissioner James Allen, a census showed a city school with a 51 per cent non-white enrollment, but more recent findings show there is no school in the Poughkeepsie city school system where the non-white population goes beyond 50 per cent. The State report was forthcoming in connection with a call from Commissioner Allen to school authorities throughout the state to break up predominantly Negro enrollments in public schools.

Fire Destroys Stone Ridge Home Of Rucki Family

A Stone Ridge couple with five children were routed from their one-story frame dwelling on the Peak Road this morning by a fire which completely destroyed the home and most of their belongings.

Vly-Atwood Fire Department volunteers, who arrived at the scene shortly after the 7:27 a. m. alarm, said the fire had already enveloped the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rucki and their children escaped, apparently unharmed, a fire official reporting for Chief Victor Merritt, said.

Kripplebush and Lomontville volunteer companies were also called to the scene through Mutual Aid.

The spokesman for Chief Merritt said firemen were unable to determine the cause of the blaze.

Another house some 20 feet away, also owned by the Rucki family was saved by the firemen, he said.

A special vote on a sanitary sewer system for the village of Rhinebeck, will be held June 25 at the Town Hall. Polls will be open from 2 to 8 p. m., when voters will decide the $1,600,000 proposition, which calls for a self-liquidating system, paid entirely through sewer rents, involving no tax monies.

Publicity Is Out On Policing of Meat Marketing

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee has directed the Agriculture Department to button its lip regarding its policing of the nation's livestock, meat and poultry markets against cheaters and price manipulators.

The secrecy directive was not extended to cover the department's policing of markets for grain, cotton, perishable commodities and other farm products.

These facts came out today in a newsman's search for information on formal charges the department has made, in the name of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, that a Colorado livestock commission firm and a Colorado livestock dealer had violated the Packers and Stockyards Act.

Has Big Authority

This act directs the department to assure free, open and fair competition and fair business practices in the marketing of livestock, meat and poultry. The law gives the secretary authority to put violators out of business.

Those named in the formal Colorado complaints were accused of failing to pay farmers for livestock.

Until recently, the department made public information on complaints, which ran into the dozens each year, issued under the act.

This was halted with the recent issuance of a report by the House Appropriations Committee on the Agriculture Department's $6-billion appropriation measure for the coming fiscal year.

Order Given

Buried in the lengthy report, written by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., is the following directive:

"Officials of this program (the Packers and Stockyards Act) should immediately discontinue the practice of publicizing any claim or charge against any individual or stockyards company for violation of regulations where no formal hearings have been held or penalties invoked."

Destructive fires took a toll of 11,700 lives and more than a billion and a half dollars in property last year in this country.

Nearly a third of the fatalities were children. About 6,100 people died in fires in their own homes.

The property loss total was $1,526,300,000. Although this was about $18,000,000 less than the record 1960 mark, the 1961 figure was the second successive year in which losses exceeded $1.5 billion.

The fire fatality total for 1961 was an increase of 350 over the previous year.

There were 2,190,040 fires in the United States in 1961, 857,400 in buildings, the remainder in forests, brush, motor vehicles, aircrafts and other transportation equipment.

Principal causes of the building fires, were careless smoking, electrical defects, defective heating and cooking equipment and mishandled flammable liquids.

Dental Clinics Set for June 25-26 At Stone Ridge

Dr. Theodore S. Drachman, Commissioner of Health of Ulster County, has announced a series of dental clinics for preschool children, ages four and five, which will be conducted at the Health Center, Stone Ridge, June 25 and 26.

Children participating in these clinics will have their teeth inspected, cleaned and will have an opportunity to participate in the program of decay prevention.

The children will be able to see dental equipment and have a chance to learn and understand the importance of dental health. In this way, they will become interested and look forward to future visits to the dentist.

Appointments for those interested may be made by calling Mrs. Virgil Crisman Jr., Stone Ridge.

GOP Asks Dairy Bills Sent for Bi-Partisan Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York State's Republican Congressmen have urged that all dairy bills be referred for study to the bi-partisan steering committee of the state's congressional delegation.

The Republicans Tuesday adopted a resolution calling for the procedure.

They pointed out that the complexity of the dairy problem make such a study necessary if a united position is to be adopted.

Proposed legislation which would affect the welfare and economy of the state is usually referred to the bipartisan committee, headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, a Democrat.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Tuesday, June 25, from 10 to 11 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

Syracuse Educator Changing to Rutgers

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Earle W. Clifford, dean of men at Syracuse University since 1961, will leave here to become dean of student affairs at Rutgers University next fall.

The appointment of Clifford, a Rutland, Vt. native, was confirmed Tuesday by the Rutgers Board of Governors at New Brunswick, N.J.

Clifford, 38, graduated from Syracuse University in 1950 and later received his master's degree at the school. From 1951 to 1957, he served on the staff of the dean of men at Syracuse.

He left in 1957 to become dean of men at the University of Vermont. Clifford returned to Syracuse in September 1961.

Stanton Changes Plea

A 23-year-old Poughkeepsie man, who authorities charged teamed up with his father in area burglaries, on Tuesday withdrew a plea of innocent and pleaded guilty to two counts of a 66-count indictment at Poughkeepsie. Raymond G. Stanton, of 7 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, was charged in the indictment of conspiring with his father, Raymond H. Stanton, 48, and receiving stolen goods. Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz deferred sentencing until July 17. Stanton's father previously pleaded guilty to burglarizing 15 Dutchess County homes, netting $35,000 in loot. He is serving a 5 to 10-year sentence at Sing Sing Prison. Young Stanton was scheduled to go to trial yesterday, when about 135 potential jurors reported and filled the courtroom at Poughkeepsie.

To Work for Equality

Members of the Human Rights Committee of the Dutcheess County Council af Churches has proposed the formation of a citizens committee to work for equality of opportunity and to consider racial discrimination in Poughkeepsie.

Hoover Anxious To Get Well, Has Work to Finish

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover is "impatient to get well again" because "he says he has a lot of unfinished work to do," a family spokesman reports.

But doctors say that Hoover, 88, still is seriously ill with anemia, although some improvement in his condition was noted Tuesday.

A medical bulletin said Hoover's heart rhythm was regular, his temperature was normal and he was taking nourishment. He enjoyed a short visit with his sons, Allan and Herbert Jr., the only visitors permitted in his Waldorf Towers suite.

Hoover became seriously ill 11 days ago. He underwent an operation last August for cancer of the large intestine.

Stratton Would Stop Cigarette Promotion Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., has asked the Post Office Department to block mass mailings of packs of cigarettes to "adult occupants" of mailing addresses in Schenectady, N.Y.

Stratton said Tuesday he had learned that a tobacco company had mailed the cigarettes to certain Schenectady addresses as a promotional venture.

He requested Postmaster General J. Edward Day to determine whether the mailings could be prevented as being in violation of a law regarding the mailing of dangerous or harmful articles through the mail.

Thruway Agency Wants to Finish Removing Signs

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The State Thruway Authority has asked for dismissal of an injunction that would stop it from removing more of a Buffalo sign company's billboards along the Thruway.

Seven billboards owned by Whitmier & Ferris Co. Inc. were among 53 leveled by Thruway crews June 10. The authority said the billboards were too close to the highway.

On the same day, Whitmier & Ferris obtained a temporary injunction in State Supreme Court preventing removal of more of its billboards. Justice Gilbert H. King of Buffalo Tuesday reserved decision on the company's motion for a permanent injunction.

The Thruway Authority Tuesday argued that State Supreme Court had no jurisdiction in the case because the authority, like the state, was immune from equity action. The sign company, said state attorneys, could act through the Court of Claims.

In Albany a Thruway authority spokesman said Tuesday he knew of no billboards left standing in the courts.

The Authority said it removed the signs under a law regulating billboards within 660 feet of the thruway. Billboard owners, said the authority, had repeatedly ignored the law.

Fall From Tractor Fatal

FOR YOUR Protection
HERMAN J. EATON C.L.U.
Answers Your Insurance Questions

QUESTION: Like many other small businessmen I divide my insurance among several agents. I've been told several times I'd save money and get better protection by giving all the business to one agent. Is this true?

ANSWER: You should at the very least allow one really competent agent supervise your entire insurance program. If you want to spread the business around among other agents, that supervising agent will cooperate.

This public service is our way of advertising. Your insurance questions will be answered without charge or obligation if you'll send or bring them to
